SURPLUS FOOD — Mrs. Jane Hoover checks cases of lard and other foods being unpacked today in preparation for distribution Monday to local welfare program families. Surplus foods are being stored in the basement of the Welfare Department headquarters on E. Mound St. A distribution center will be opened at the rear of the offices. Assisting Mrs. Hoover here is Ernest Happeney, one of the workers who helped prepare the storage areas.

First Surplus Food Arrives; Distribution Starts Monday

The Pickaway County Welfare Department received more than 10 tons of food Thursday as its initial shipment in a surplus foods commodity program being established here.

Miss Pauline Reese, welfare director, said distribution of the food items will begin on Monday. The staples will supplement grants for families already on welfare.

The 21,325 pounds of foods received yesterday included dried milk, rice, flour, lard, butter, beans, rolled wheat cereal, canned beef and peanut butter.

Mrs. Jane Hoover, Route 3, was employed by the local department last month to handle distribution of the food to families on welfare.

THE PROGRAM has been available for a number of years according to Miss Reese. But the local Welfare Department had no place to store food-stuffs until the Heine property was purchased.

Gunman Is Killed, Policeman Hurt In Cincy Shootout

CINCINNATI (AP)—A gunman was killed, a policeman wounded and another man arrested in a shootout Thursday night at a small savings and loan company.

Officers said two men who allegedly tried to rob the East Clifton Savings & Loan Co. fired eight shots at Patrolman Lawrence Jones, 32, who was wounded in the right hand.

Killed by a blast from Jones' 12 gauge shotgun was Earl Crouch, 32, of Cincinnati. Arrested was his alleged companion, Dennis G. Scanlon, 33, of El Paso, Tex.

Police said Jones was hiding out in an office Thursday night because the company has been the target of previous robberies and holdup attempts. Three employees in the building were not hurt.

Astronaut's Space Walk Is Due March 16

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut David R. Scott will take his walk in space on March 16, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced.

NASA said Thursday that the three-day Gemini 8 mission for Scott and his command pilot, Neil A. Armstrong, will begin March 15.

Scott's walk will last two hours and 15 minutes, during which he will move 17,500 miles an hour — covering a distance equal to 1½ times around the world.

City Police Host District Chiefs Meet

A compulsory training program for new law enforcement officers was the center of attention when the Southeastern District of the Ohio Police Chiefs Assn. convened here Thursday for a luncheon meeting.

Circleville Police Chief Robert Temple served as host for the session, conducted at Pickaway Arms. There were 28 police chiefs participating.

Also present were Col. Anson Cook, Ohio Peace Officers Training Council executive; Pickaway Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Sgt. J. W. Pribble of the local State Highway Patrol Post and Pickaway Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Considerable discussion focused on a compulsory program that now requires 120 hours of schooling for new police officers and sheriff's deputies. Initial groundwork for this district was established.

INSTRUCTION of this type previously was conducted on a local level. Now a uniform school procedure is being set up throughout the state.

According to enforcement spokesmen, the new program has been established as an effort to standardize police work.

Judge Ammer offered comments concerning the part enforcement officers play in a community. Chief Temple commended several local firms that helped his department sponsor the association meeting.

Blue Cross Medicare OK'd

'Ohio 65' Plan Slated To Fold

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rates to be used by seven Ohio Blue Cross agencies for contracts of non-group subscribers covered by Medicare were approved today by Ohio Insurance Supt. William R. Morris.

Morris said all direct-pay subscribers covered by the seven agencies will continue to have at least their present benefits in the combination of Medicare plus the new supplemental benefit.

Supplemental contracts are also being developed for subscribers over 65 who are currently enrolled under master group contracts.

The rates, ranging from $2.25 to $3.10 monthly, involve Blue Cross agencies at Youngstown, Lima, Columbus, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Toledo.

In the meantime, the Ohio 65 Health Insurance Association said today it will terminate all its insurance plans at midnight, June 30, when federal Medicare benefits begin.

The association was organized in 1964 to provide hospital-surgical medical expense protection for Ohioans 65 years or older.

Ben F. Hadley, president of the 54-company association, said the Ohio 65 organization would continue in business after June 30 to pay outstanding claims as provided for in the group's certificate of insurance.

Hadley explained the decision to terminate Ohio 65 coverage was based on the fact that the government - subsidized Medicare program will meet the basic purpose for which Ohio 65 was established.

Only 7 Americans Executed Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department reports that last year only seven Americans were put to death by legal authorities—the first time on record the number of executions fell below 10.

All seven men were convicted murderers. Kansas hanged four men, Missouri and Wyoming gassed two men and an Alabama murderer died in the electric chair.

In 1935, 199 persons were put to death by legal authorities.

Tennessee Death Row Gets 5 Men

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Death row at Tennessee State Prison at Nashville has been empty since last year when Gov. Frank G. Clement commuted to life imprisonment the sentences against five condemned men.

But Thursday, Shelby County's longest trial in history saw five Negro men sentenced to die in the electric chair on conviction of raping a young white girl. Three other men were given 99-year terms and two were acquitted.

Criminal Court Judge Preston Battle pronounced the death sentence for Charles Hunter, 26; Franklin Wright, 18; Ulois Harris, 21; Earl Foster, 18; and Garfield Houston, 27.

Although the state had demanded the death penalty for only Wright and Hunter, the jury — made up of 10 white men and two Negro men — deliberated 20 hours and recommended no mercy for the other three. Court officials said the five death sentences were the most ever handed down in Shelby County, the state's largest.

Gov. Clement, who repeatedly has spoken out against the death penalty, cleared death row last year after the House of Representatives had failed to repeal capital punishment. The measure had passed easily in the Senate.

All defendants in Thursday's convictions denied any guilt in the assault. Their sentences will be appealed.

Rusk Says Pact Ties U.S. to Viet Defense

Viet Reds Off Balance In War, Experts Believe

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communists have not launched any major campaigns in recent weeks because U.S. and South Vietnamese offensive action threw them off balance, high-level Americans in Saigon believe.

There is said to be no indication that the Communists have moved any major elements out of the country. On the contrary, they are believed to be building up at a steady rate. The number of infiltrators coming into South Viet Nam still is put at about 4,500 each month, the same figure that has been quoted for the past five or six months.

An American spokesman said today there are now approximately 20,000 armed Viet Cong or North Vietnamese in each of the country's four corps areas. The mixture of these forces varies from area to area.

These figures do not include an estimated 100,000 guerrilla fighters, 40,000 in political cadres and about 17,000 support personnel.

It is estimated that there are 24 regimental formations of Communist forces in the country, nine of them North Vietnamese and 15 Viet Cong.

There has been much speculation about why the Communists have not launched any major attacks since late last year. There have been reports that some forces had left the country.

It is felt in qualified quarters, however, that the main-force units have been lying low because they have been kept off balance and have been forced to change some of their plans by U.S. troop movements and by Allied offensives.

There are indications that some enemy forces have been moving south of the Pleiku area and into Darlac Province. Some major-scale fighting is expected to occur in that area.

To a large degree, most actions launched recently by the Communists have been attacks on outposts and on regional and popular force units.

Officials consider that defections among the enemy forces are now showing a favorably significant trend, but this is considered to be far from any indication of a breaking point.

The probability of Communist China entering the war is generally regarded as remote unless some escalation of the war threatens the North Vietnamese government itself. Washington has said repeatedly that its aim and commitment in South Viet Nam is not the destruction of the Hanoi regime.

LBJ To Ask for New Teeth In School Integration Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will ask Congress to put new teeth into federal laws aimed at desegregating public schools, it was learned today.

He will ask also for about 100 new FBI agents to cope with that agency's swelling civil rights caseload, informed sources said.

A bill being drafted by the Johnson administration would give the attorney general greater authority to initiate court action toward desegregation of schools instead of awaiting complaints and taking part in suits brought by Negroes.

The proposal would be aimed at blocking intimidation of Negroes seeking to integrate schools and harassment of Negro pupils attending previously all-white schools, according to informants.

The President is expected to include school desegregation proposals in a civil rights package that will include proposed laws to eliminate discrimination in jury selection; extend federal court protection to Negroes and civil rights workers in the South; and eliminate discrimination in the sale or rental of housing.

Johnson included all but the school proposals in his Jan. 12 State of the Union Message. The bills reportedly are nearing completion in the hands of Justice Department draftsmen.

The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights reported Tuesday that nearly 12 years after the Supreme Court ruled that segregated schools are unconstitutional, only one of every 13 Negro children in the South is attending school with white pupils.

The administration is said to agree with the commission's finding that existing federal laws are inadequate to deal with such harassment or intimidation.

A proposed law being drafted by the administration would give the attorney general authority to initiate court suits when he finds discrimination, harassment or other illegal activities.

The Justice Department is now limited by the 1964 Civil Rights Act to filing suits only when it receives complaints and the attorney general believes the victims of the alleged discrimination are incapable of bringing suits themselves. To date, only seven such suits have been filed.

Would-Be Driver Very Embarrassed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton woman, Miss Genell Watson, 23, had the city's most embarrassing accident of the year Thursday.

Miss Watson had almost successfully passed her driver's test when, in attempting to park, she hit the accelerator instead of the brake, sideswiped another car and slammed into a plate glass window in a building adjacent to the highway patrol testing station.

Neither Miss Watson nor anyone else was injured, but she'll have to return another day to try again to get her license.

The mercury dropped to 45 below at Roseau, Minn. It was 42 below at International Falls, Minn., early today after Thursday's high of -17. At the same time it was 30 below zero at Grand Forks, N.D., and -25 at Hibbing, Minn.

Initially given the job of laying wires between the company headquarters and the platoons, he began carrying Spriggs' radio.

Early in January, he proved he had what it takes.

Spec. 5 Larry Kahlert of Sumnerfield, Kan., recalls that the company was under heavy fire near Trung Lap and an urgent call came over the radio for Capt. Spriggs.

The radioman shouted back: "The captain's not here. He's up front. There's heavy fire, I can't reach him."

Kahlert said Belton shouted out, "It's your duty to get up to the captain," crawled over to the reluctant radioman, grabbed the apparatus and moved up under fire to his captain.

Spriggs has used him as his radioman ever since.

"Belton in his conduct and bearing has been above average as a soldier and a valuable asset," Spriggs said. "He has worked in very well socially and he has got along with the men."

"I am personally satisfied that he now honestly believes his actions in the past have not been consistent with being a soldier or a man."

One of the commission's proposals will be reflected in the legislation about to be submitted by the President. The commission said Congress should enact laws authorizing the attorney general and the victims to bring civil suits to stop private persons from harassing or intimidating Negro parents or children seeking to exercise their rights under federally approved desegregation plans.

Debate Set To Determine Union Tieup

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A trucking company executive has agreed to debate an aide of Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa, with unionization of his company at stake.

Sidney Alterman, president of Alterman Transport, Inc., will face national Teamsters' Representative Lawrence N. Steinberg in debates at Miami and Orlando, where the company has major depots.

A secret ballot by 600 workers will follow. If they back the union leader's arguments, the company will be unionized. If they support Alterman's views, the Teamsters will drop efforts to organize the company's employees.

"I am doing this because I believe in the voice of the people," said Alterman, whose company has depots throughout Florida and Georgia.

He said ground rules for the debates are being drawn up. They probably will be held in March.

Fostoria Farm Boy, 9, Is Accidentally Hanged

The boy, Lawrence Allen Kelbley, was Thursday found hanging from a piece of heavy twine.

Policy Probers Get Reminder

They Voted 'For' SEATO Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Southeast Asia Treaty obliges the United States to defend South Viet Nam — and "if we as a nation decide that one of our alliances is not very important," it will undermine the others.

Rusk reminded the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it voted, with only one dissenter, for ratification of the 1954 treaty.

Since World War II, Rusk said, the United States has joined in a series of alliances, created in direct response to Communist pressures.

And he said they have stabilized the world scene.

"But I'm very much concerned," Rusk said, "that if we as a nation decide that one of our alliances is not very important, that this will have a fundamental effect on the strength and the solidarity and the usefulness of other alliances."

Rusk said the SEATO Treaty won lopsided backing in the committee and in the Senate. "The far-reaching implications of this commitment were well understood by this committee when it recommended, with only the late Sen. William Langer, R-N.D., dissenting, that the Senate consent to the ratification of the Treaty," Rusk said.

"All members of this distinguished committee who were then senators voted for that treaty," Rusk added.

Among those committee members who have been critical of President Johnson's current Viet Nam policy and who were senators a decade ago are chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.; and Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

The basis for the U.S. commitment under which Johnson has sent more than 200,000 servicemen to fight in Viet Nam has been one of the chief targets in the questioning.

Presenting a full-scale defense of what he portrayed as a vital U.S. policy of stemming Communist aggression in Viet Nam as well as elsewhere, Rusk underlined the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) commitment entered into with Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan in 1954.

"It is this fundamental SEATO obligation that has from the outset guided our actions in South Viet Nam," he said.

Rusk said that "in joining SEATO the United States took a solemn treaty engagement of far-reaching effect" and the treaty was ratified by the U.S. Senate by a 84-1 vote, only Langer dissenting.

The secretary of state summoned up his 50 pages of broad-ranging testimony with this five-point summary which he described as "the heart of the problem and the heart of U.S. policy in South Viet Nam."

"1. The elementary fact is that there is an aggression in the form of an armed attack by North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam."

"2. The United States has commitments to assist South Viet Nam to repel this aggression."

"3. Our commitments to South Viet Nam were not taken in isolation but are a part of systematic effort in the postwar period to assure a stable peace."

"4. The issue in Southeast Asia becomes worldwide because we must make clear that the United States keeps its word wherever it is pledged."

"5. No nation is more interested in peace in Southeast Asia or elsewhere than is the United States. If the armed attack against South Viet Nam is brought to an end, peace can come very quickly."

Thursday presidential adviser Maxwell D. Taylor held the spotlight in a stormy session. With France's 1954 loss of Indochina in mind, the general suggested that with military success South Viet Nam could be lost by disension in Washington.

Anti-Viet Striker Proves Self in Battle

BEN CAT, South Viet Nam (AP)—Six months ago a university graduate named Winstel R. Belton staged a seven-day hunger strike at Fort Benning, Ga., to dramatize his distaste for being drafted and his refusal to fight in Viet Nam.

Thursday a big, proud smile flashed across Belton's face as he was promoted to private first class on a battlefield in South Viet Nam.

Looking just as proud was his company commander, Capt. R. E. Spriggs of Mexico, N. Y., a professional soldier who had hated everything Belton's hunger strike had stood for.

Spriggs was furious last November when he returned to his unit after recovering from a bullet wound to find Belton assigned there.

Spriggs said Thursday he would take the 26-year-old Winslow, Ariz., soldier into combat with him any time, any where.

Belton arrived in Viet Nam with a 12-month suspended jail sentence hanging over his head because of his hunger strike in mid-August. A court-martial had given him a bad conduct discharge, total forfeiture of pay and the jail sentence.

But he was also given a chance.

Belton, a Negro, was o'd that if he went to Viet Nam and proved himself, he would not have to serve his jail sentence. If he failed, he would serve it.

His old unit, the U.S. Army's 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, wouldn't take him back. The 1st Infantry Division accepted him.

Spriggs was the only man in "A" company of the 2nd Battalion, 28th Regiment, who knew that the new radio - telephone operator was the hunger striker Belton.

Belton, holder of a bachelor of science degree in education, was initially cold and reserved with his buddies. But the heat of battles in December and January melted his attitude and forged ever - tightening bonds with Spriggs and the other men in the company.

Initially given the job of laying wires between the company headquarters and the platoons, he began carrying Spriggs' radio.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A trucking company executive has agreed to debate an aide of Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa, with unionization of his company at stake.

Sidney Alterman, president of Alterman Transport, Inc., will face national Teamsters' Representative Lawrence N. Steinberg in debates at Miami and Orlando, where the company has major depots.

A secret ballot by 600 workers will follow. If they back the union leader's arguments, the company will be unionized. If they support Alterman's views, the Teamsters will drop efforts to organize the company's employees.

"I am doing this because I believe in the voice of the people," said Alterman, whose company has depots throughout Florida and Georgia.

He said ground rules for the debates are being drawn up. They probably will be held in March.

tending school with white pupils.

The commission said fear, intimidation by whites, racial ties and habits have combined in the South to circumvent desegregation plans and federal laws aimed at withholding federal aid from school districts where segregation continues.

One of the commission's proposals will be reflected in the legislation about to be submitted by the President. The commission said Congress should enact laws authorizing the attorney general and the victims to bring civil suits to stop private persons from harassing or intimidating Negro parents or children seeking to exercise their rights under federally approved desegregation plans.

The administration is said to agree with the commission's finding that existing federal laws are inadequate to deal with such harassment or intimidation.

A proposed law being drafted by the administration would give the attorney general authority to initiate court suits when he finds discrimination, harassment or other illegal activities.

The Justice Department is now limited by the 1964 Civil Rights Act to filing suits only when it receives complaints and the attorney general believes the victims of the alleged discrimination are incapable of bringing suits themselves. To date, only seven such suits have been filed.

Policy Probers Get Reminder They Voted 'For' SEATO Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Southeast Asia Treaty obliges the United States to defend South Viet Nam — and "if we as a nation decide that one of our alliances is not very important," it will undermine the others.

Rusk reminded the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it voted, with only one dissenter, for ratification of the 1954 treaty.

Since World War II, Rusk said, the United States has joined in a series of alliances, created in direct response to Communist pressures.

And he said they have stabilized the world scene.

"But I'm very much concerned," Rusk said, "that if we as a nation decide that one of our alliances is not very important, that this will have a fundamental effect on the strength and the solidarity and the usefulness of other alliances."

Rusk said the SEATO Treaty won lopsided backing in the committee and in the Senate.

"The far-reaching implications of this commitment were well understood by this committee when it recommended, with only the late Sen. William Langer, R-N.D., dissenting, that the Senate consent to the ratification of the Treaty," Rusk said.

"All members of this distinguished committee who were then senators voted for that treaty," Rusk added.

Among those committee members who have been critical of President Johnson's current Viet Nam policy and who were senators a decade ago are chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.; and Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

The basis for the U.S. commitment under which Johnson has sent more than 200,000 servicemen to fight in Viet Nam has been one of the chief targets in the questioning.

Presenting a full-scale defense of what he portrayed as a vital U.S. policy of stemming Communist aggression in Viet Nam as well as elsewhere, Rusk underlined the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) commitment entered into with Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan in 1954.

"It is this fundamental SEATO obligation that has from the outset guided our actions in South Viet Nam," he said.

Rusk said that "in joining SEATO the United States took a solemn treaty engagement of far-reaching effect" and the treaty was ratified by the U.S. Senate by a 84-1 vote, only Langer dissenting.

The secretary of state summoned up his 50 pages of broad-ranging testimony with this five-point summary which he described as "the heart of the problem and the heart of U.S. policy in South Viet Nam."

"1. The elementary fact is that there is an aggression in the form of an armed attack by North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam."

"2. The United States has commitments to assist South Viet Nam to repel this aggression."

"3. Our commitments to South Viet Nam were not taken in isolation but are a part of systematic effort in the postwar period to assure a stable peace."

"4. The issue in Southeast Asia becomes worldwide because we must make clear that the United States keeps its word wherever it is pledged."

"5. No nation is more interested in peace in Southeast Asia or elsewhere than is the United States. If the armed attack against South Viet Nam is brought to an end, peace can come very quickly."

Thursday presidential adviser Maxwell D. Taylor held the spotlight in a stormy session. With France's 1954 loss of Indochina in mind, the general suggested that with military success South Viet Nam could be lost by disension in Washington.

Resistance Grows to Cut In Federal Aid to Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stiff resistance is growing in Congress to President Johnson's proposal to cut $216 million from an aid program for public schools in areas with large concentrations of federal workers.

The program has been a congressional favorite since it began in 1950 and there is little enthusiasm for Johnson's recommended slash of 37 per cent in its budget.

Under Johnson's proposal, 2,030 counties in all 50 states, plus the District of Columbia, would face heavy cuts in the federal funds they are now using to build schools and to pay teachers' salaries and other operating expenses.

San Diego County would lose $6 million, Los Angeles $3.6 million and the state of California as a whole, $35.4 million under the new approach. Texas would suffer the second biggest reduction — $13.9 million. Many Southern and Western cities near military bases would be nearly all of their allotments.

Some school authorities have warned their representatives in Congress that the school year may have to be shortened and salaries cut if the reduced budget is approved.

The program was originally designed to help school districts near large military bases which bore the double burden of having to educate the children from the bases while their tax base was reduced by federal property ownership. It has since been greatly expanded to take in the children of civilian federal employees wherever they comprise more than 3 per cent of the school district's enrollment.

At present, expenditures for the program top $400 million and the school districts which receive the aid count on it for a substantial part of their budget.

Viewing the steady expansion and growing cost of the program, the last three administrations have tried to cut it, but without success. Johnson is relying on the big, broad school aid program enacted by Congress last year to take the sting out of the cuts he is now proposing.

OSU To Honor Area Students

Two Pickaway County students will be honored Tuesday at Ohio State University's 19th annual President's Scholarship Recognition Dinner.

To be honored are Arleen A. Thomas, Route 1, Williamsport, and Michael P. Thompson, Orient. Approximately 500 students will be recognized.

Top scholars invited to the annual event were those listed on the university's honor rolls for both the spring and autumn quarters of 1965. All will receive commemorative medallions at the dinner.

Dr. John C. Weaver, vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculties at OSU and president-elect of the University of Missouri, will be the principal speaker.

The annual program is supported mainly by contributions from the OSU Development Fund and Alumni Assn.

Sea Unions Plan Boycott

Target: Nations Aiding Viet Reds

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO maritime unions told President Johnson today they will boycott ships of all foreign nations trading with the North Vietnamese Communists.

In a telegram to Johnson, union officials said "trade with North Viet Nam puts blood money in the pocket of ship-owners and other profiteers of so-called Allied nations."

The telegram added that "we believe the time for pussyfooting is long past."

"We must inform you therefore, very soon our members will begin to demonstrate their protests on all waterfronts in this country directed against any and all ships of those nations which permit trade with North Viet Nam."

The boycott, said spokesmen for the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department will affect hundreds of foreign vessels from nations including Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, France, Italy and Egypt. The boycott will be imposed by refusing to load any such vessel entering U.S. ports.

The telegram to Johnson was signed by Paul Hall, president of the Maritime Trades Department; Thomas W. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association; and Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union.

Two years ago the same unions imposed a boycott on U.S. wheat shipments to Russia until the White House persuaded them to lift it.

"Our boys are fighting in and dying along with loyal South Vietnamese forces and those of our other allies," the unions' telegram to Johnson said.

Hall said the boycott will be imposed unless the U.S. government takes up the matter with "so-called Allied nations" and stops them from trading with North Viet Nam.

He said the maritime unions will call a meeting in Washington within a few weeks and that if the government has done "nothing effective" by then the boycott will begin.

This action was approved by the Maritime Trades Department, composed of 29 unions.

Noted Painter Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Painter Hans Hofmann, 85, considered as one of the greatest single influences on contemporary painting, died Thursday.

He was born in Germany and came to the U.S. in 1905. He was a member of the New York Society of Artists and the National Academy of Design. He was married and had two children.

Local Agent Promoted by Insurance Co.

Frank Jenkins, formerly of Circleville, has been promoted to the position of associate sales manager with the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. at Chillicothe.

Replacing Jenkins in Circleville is Pat Rooney. Rooney and his wife, Barbara, reside at 1265 N. Court St.

Ralph Tipton, local staff manager for the insurance firm, noted today that Jenkins had sold nearly $1½ million of life insurance during his three years as an agent in Circleville.

Jenkins and his wife, along with their two children, have already moved to Chillicothe where the new associate sales manager has assumed his duties.

Key Stock Prices Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a moderate loss early this afternoon in active trading.

Key stocks continued their decline of Thursday, settling downward irregularly. As in the previous session, specially situated issues were strong.

Wall Street was concerned about rising interest rates, tighter credit and a possible boost in margins — the "down payment" required in buying stocks on credit. Feared action in that respect by the Federal Reserve Board did not take place, as some had expected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 336.6 with industrials off 1.0, rails off .8 and utilities up .1. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.67 at 972.60.

Motorist Fined $50 for Passing Stopped Bus

Melvin Rothstein, 39, Baltimore, Md., cited for passing a school bus stopped to unload children, waived a court hearing and paid a fine of $50 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court.

Other motorists listed on the court docket were: Ray Conley, 34, Columbus; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

David Dixon, 24, Bradley, W. Va.; $15 and costs for following another vehicle too closely.

James Johnson, 41, Dayton; $15 and costs for failure to maintain an assured clear distance in which to stop.

Harold Dearth, 29, Chillicothe; $15 and costs with the fine suspended for driving a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes.

Earl Himelrich, 31, Columbus; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Ernest Lindsey, 24, of 626 N. Court St.; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robberies, burglaries and a fire in Ohio's liquor stores and agencies during 1965 caused losses totaling $88,398.

The report by State Auditor Roger Cloud, said the stores suffered from 36 burglaries and two robberies.

Largest store burglary loss took place at the Ridgeview Plaza Shopping Center in Warren, where it was estimated at more than $11,000 of which $10,000 was covered by insurance.

A fire hit the Ashtabula store on Main Street causing loss of $35,519.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Estey Music Co. of New York City, organ makers, has been disclosed as the firm which asked state help in finding manufacturing facilities in Ohio.

Patterson Pepple, deputy director of the Department of Development, said today that officials of the company have indicated they will come to Ohio soon to look over buildings offered in many sections of the state.

The department received about 130 calls offering buildings when Gov. James A. Rhodes asked help to find one to attract the firm to Ohio. People said about 87 buildings met the requirements of the firm which would employ about 125 persons, 100 of them women.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Aspirin, plenty of liquid, and rest was the mass prescription today for more than 300,000 bed-ridden Californians waylaid by a devastating Asian flu epidemic that raged throughout the state.

In Los Angeles, hardest hit by the three-day attack, eight parochial schools were closed because of a teacher shortage, and absenteeism ranged as high as 37 per cent. Public schools remained open.

City school officials estimated that more than 140,000 students were absent from classes Thursday, with a similar number reported stricken in county and parochial schools, as well as colleges and universities.

LONDON (AP) — If you'd care to take a chance on Ann Blackburn, it's all for the cause of Anglo-American friendship.

Mrs. Blackburn, a 31-year-old secretary with dimples and pretty legs, will be raffled off at the George Washington Ball Feb. 22.

She will donate her secretarial services free for one month to the winner of the raffle. She says her husband won't mind.

The English-Speaking Union, which is organizing the shindig, hasn't divulged the price of the raffle tickets. Proceeds from the ball go to a fund which provides traveling grants and scholarships to promote United States-British relations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the biggest purchasers of autos in the nation, the General Services Administration, will ask manufacturers to boost safety requirements on all vehicles sold for government use.

The new standards, which GSA proposes to make effective on 1968 models, include the following:

Head rests on the back of front seats;

Either recessed or breakaway ash trays, window and door controls;

Arm rests without sharp corners;

Rear window defrosters;

Roll bars on soft-top vehicles;

Stronger fuel tanks and fuel pipelines;

The GSA purchased 43,480 vehicles last fiscal year, including nearly 10,000 passenger cars.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle have exchanged "direct and frank," but not "harsh or severe" letters on Viet Nam, says the White House.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked about the correspondence Thursday after the Columbia Broadcasting System radio network reported that De Gaulle sent a letter to Johnson opening a "direct quarrel" over U. S. policies in Viet Nam.

Moyers said the two leaders exchanged letters late in January. The aide added that he checked over past correspondence between De Gaulle and Johnson and found it "has always been direct and frank on all subjects..." None of the letters, moreover, Moyers said, merited the description "harsh or severe."

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese military experts say Communist China is trying to develop a three-ton atomic bomb that could be carried in its Ilyushin-28 light jet bomber.

They also expressed the opinion that judging by the level of Chinese technology, Peking may already have an intercontinental ballistic missile "within its reach."

In a report published Thursday, the experts said the Chinese may explode a third atomic device within a few months.

The Japanese experts also agreed with other world scientists that the Chinese may test a hydrogen bomb sometime between this fall and 1968.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Eight Nagas tribesmen have been arrested in connection with the bombing of an express train which killed 37 persons in the eastern state of Assam, reports reaching New Delhi said today.

The Nagas, members of the Sema tribe, were reported to have been aboard the Assam mail express when two time bombs went off in one coach Wednesday night. More than 50 persons were injured.

Nagas are blamed for six attempts to wreck trains in Assam in the past 12 months. At least 52 persons have been killed.

$50,000 Award Set For Research

CLEVELAND (AP) — Vernon Stouffer said there were personal reasons why he established one of the largest medical awards in the world—$50,000 to find the cause and cure of hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

Stouffer, 65-year-old founder and president of Stouffer Foods Corp., said his brother died of high blood pressure, his father of a heart attack and his mother of a clogged aorta.

"So the impetus for the Stouffer Prize came from personal experience," he said Thursday at a dinner of civic leaders and national health authorities.

In making the formal announcement, Dr. Irvine H. Page, director of research of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, said hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure are the two major killers of adult men in the world's temperature zone.

"The prevention of arteriosclerosis (hardening of arteries) will dwarf all other major medical discoveries," Page said.

The purpose of the prize included these points:

—To stimulate original investigation into the two diseases.

—To promote the public welfare by publicizing knowledge about the diseases.

—To recognize achievement in these areas leading to the saving of human life.

GI Smothers Grenade To Save Comrades' Lives

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American soldier, still unidentified, died a hero's death yesterday when he used his body to smother a Viet Cong grenade tossed into a group of six GIs. Meanwhile two helicopter crashes within the last 24 hours have taken seven American lives.

A Marine helicopter crashed and burned while taking off at Phu Hai Thursday. One Marine was killed and four injured, two seriously. No explanation for the crash was given.

An Army helicopter crashed 10 miles northeast of Saigon today, and six soldiers were killed. Circumstances of the crash were not immediately reported.

The soldier hero died when a Viet Cong company attacked a small unit of the 25th Division in ambush positions 25 miles west of Saigon near Cu Chi, scene of repeated furious battles since the 25th established a base there three weeks ago.

The Viet Cong fire was so heavy that nearly two platoons of reinforcements and jet napalm attacks were needed to get the beleaguered unit out. Six to 10 Viet Cong were reported killed; American casualties were officially described as "light to moderate."

In the air war against North Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman said U.S. Air Force planes for the past three days had lashed the air base at Dien Bien Phu, west of Hanoi, where the French lost their Indochina War in 1954.

The spokesman said 50 more buildings had been destroyed, bringing the total destruction to 255 buildings. The nearly four-square-mile area once consisted of 419 military barracks, storage structures, and multistoried administrative quarters.

Navy carrier planes raided in North Viet Nam along routes from Vinh south and west to the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, the spokesman said. Pilots reported destroying five bridges, cratering approaches to five more and cutting roads.

In the jungle and paddy war, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division continued to mete out punishment to hitherto entrenched Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars around Bong Son, 300 miles north of Saigon.

A day-long battle erupted Thursday when a company of cavalrymen jumped a reinforced weapons company of Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son.

The Americans called in a battalion of reinforcements and then a second battalion joined in the melee.

At day's end, the cavalry said they had 128 Viet Cong bodies, many killed by artillery and air attacks. Another 14 were killed in adjacent skirmishes.

Since the cavalry moved into the area the division has reported 944 enemy killed, 230 captured, and 183 weapons seized, including 33 big ones manned by crews.

The Viet Cong, accustomed in the past to riding roughshod over Vietnamese outposts, came in for another surprise in attacking the Binh Cong outpost today about 25 miles south of Saigon in the Mekong Delta.

Forty Vietnamese militiamen reacted fiercely, called in a flare ship for visibility and then artillery.

When the Viet Cong were beaten off, they left behind 28 bodies along with one heavy machine gun, one light machine gun, three submachine guns, three bazookas and seven individual weapons. A spokesman said as they left, the Viet Cong burned 21 civilian houses.

In the past few weeks, a number of outposts have reported successfully beating off superior Viet Cong forces.

A government military spokesman commented: "The answer is there is now more speed and coordination at calling on artillery and air strike and they are responding quicker."

Local Agent Promoted by Insurance Co.

Frank Jenkins, formerly of Circleville, has been promoted to the position of associate sales manager with the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. at Chillicothe.

Replacing Jenkins in Circleville is Pat Rooney. Rooney and his wife, Barbara, reside at 1265 N. Court St.

Ralph Tipton, local staff manager for the insurance firm, noted today that Jenkins had sold nearly $1½ million of life insurance during his three years as an agent in Circleville.

Jenkins and his wife, along with their two children, have already moved to Chillicothe where the new associate sales manager has assumed his duties.

Key Stock Prices Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a moderate loss early this afternoon in active trading.

Key stocks continued their decline of Thursday, settling downward irregularly. As in the previous session, specially situated issues were strong.

Wall Street was concerned about rising interest rates, tighter credit and a possible boost in margins — the "down payment" required in buying stocks on credit. Feared action in that respect by the Federal Reserve Board did not take place, as some had expected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 363.6 with industrials off 1.0, rails off .8 and utilities up .1. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.67 at 972.60.

Motorist Fined $50 for Passing Stopped Bus

Melvin Rothstein, 39, Baltimore, Md., cited for passing a school bus stopped to unload children, waived a court hearing and paid a fine of $50 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court.

Other motorists listed on the court docket were:

Ray Conley, 34, Columbus; $19 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

David Dixon, 41, Dayton; $15 and costs for failure to maintain an assured clear distance in which to stop.

Harold Dearth, 29, Chillicothe; $15 and costs with the fine suspended for driving a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes.

Earl Himelrich, 31, Columbus; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Ernest Lindsey, 24, of 626 N. Court St.; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robberies, burglaries and a fire in Ohio's liquor stores and agencies during 1965 caused losses totaling $88,398.

The report by State Auditor Roger Cloud, said the stores suffered from 36 burglaries and two robberies.

Largest store burglary loss took place at the Ridgeview Plaza Shopping Center in Warren, where it was estimated at more than $11,000 of which $10,000 was covered by insurance.

A fire hit the Ashtabula store on Main Street causing loss of $35,519.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Estey Music Co. of New York City, organ makers, has been disclosed as the firm which asked state help in finding manufacturing facilities in Ohio.

Patterson Pepple, deputy director of the Department of Development, said today that officials of the company have indicated they will come to Ohio soon to look over buildings offered in many sections of the state.

The department received about 130 calls offering buildings when Gov. James A. Rhodes asked help to find one to attract the firm to Ohio. People said about 87 buildings met the requirements of the firm which would employ about 125 persons, 100 of them women.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Aspirin, plenty of liquid, and rest was the mass prescription today for more than 300,000 bedridden Californians waylaid by a devastating Asian flu epidemic that raged throughout the state.

In Los Angeles, hardest hit by the three-day attack, eight parochial schools were closed because of a teacher shortage, and absenteeism ranged as high as 37 per cent. Public schools remained open.

City school officials estimated that more than 140,000 students were absent from classes Thursday, with a similar number reported stricken in county and parochial schools, as well as colleges and universities.

LONDON (AP) — If you'd care to take a chance on Ann Blackburn, it's all for the cause of Anglo-American friendship.

Mrs. Blackburn, a 31-year-old secretary with dimples and pretty legs, will be raffled off at the George Washington Ball Feb. 22.

She will donate her secretarial services free for one month to the winner of the raffle. She says her husband won't mind.

The English-Speaking Union, which is organizing the shindig, hasn't divulged the price of the raffle tickets. Proceeds from the ball go to a fund which provides traveling grants and scholarships to promote United States-British relations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the biggest purchasers of autos in the nation, the General Services Administration, will ask manufacturers to boost safety requirements on all vehicles sold for government use.

The new standards, which GSA proposes to make effective on 1968 models, include the following:

Head rests on the back of front seats;

Either recessed or breakaway ash trays, window and door controls;

Arm rests without sharp corners;

Rear window defrosters;

Roll bars on soft-top vehicles;

Stronger fuel tanks and fuel pipelines;

The GSA purchased 45,480 vehicles last fiscal year, including nearly 10,000 passenger cars.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle have exchanged "direct and frank" but not "harsh or severe" letters on Viet Nam, says the White House.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked about the correspondence Thursday after the Columbia Broadcasting System radio network reported that De Gaulle sent a letter to Johnson opening a "direct quarrel" over U. S. policies in Viet Nam.

Moyers said the two leaders exchanged letters late in January. The aide added that he checked over past correspondence between De Gaulle and Johnson and found it "has always been direct and frank on all subjects..." None of the letters, moreover, Moyers said, merited the description "harsh or severe."

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese military experts say Communist China is trying to develop a three-ton atomic bomb that could be carried in its Ilyushin-28 light jet bomber.

They also expressed the opinion that judging by the level of Chinese technology, Peking may already have an intercontinental ballistic missile "within its reach."

In a report published Thursday, the experts said the Chinese may explode a third atomic device within a few months.

The Japanese experts also agreed with other world scientists that the Chinese may test a hydrogen bomb sometime between this fall and 1968.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Eight Naga tribesmen have been arrested in connection with the bombing of an express train which killed 37 persons in the eastern state of Assam, reports reaching New Delhi said today.

The Nagas, members of the Sema tribe, were reported to have been aboard the Assam mail express when two time bombs went off in one coach Wednesday night. More than 50 persons were injured.

Nagas are blamed for six attempts to wreck trains in Assam in the past 12 months. At least 52 persons have been killed.

ROME (AP) — Municipal workers suspended a scheduled three-day strike Thursday night before it was 24 hours old. The walkout for higher pay and better job classifications was reported to have been only 30 per cent effective.

Some litter piled up in the streets, but there were few other discernible effects.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American soldier, still unidentified, died a hero's death yesterday when he used his body to smother a Viet Cong grenade tossed into a group of six GIs. Meanwhile two helicopter crashes within the last 24 hours have taken seven American lives.

A Marine helicopter crashed and burned while taking off at Phu Hai Thursday. One Marine was killed and four injured, two seriously. No explanation for the crash was given.

An Army helicopter crashed 10 miles northeast of Saigon today, and six soldiers were killed. Circumstances of the crash were not immediately reported.

The soldier hero died when a Viet Cong company attacked a small unit of the 25th Division in ambush positions 25 miles west of Saigon near Chu Chi, scene of repeated furious battles since the 25th established a base there three weeks ago.

The Viet Cong fire was so heavy that nearly two platoons of reinforcements and jet napalm attacks were needed to get the beleaguered unit out. Six to 10 Viet Cong were reported killed; American casualties were officially described as "light to moderate."

In the air war against North Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman said U.S. Air Force planes for the past three days had lashed the air base at Dien Bien Phu, west of Hanoi, where the French lost their Indochina War in 1954.

The spokesman said 50 more buildings had been destroyed, bringing the total destruction to 253 buildings. The nearly four-square-mile area once consisted of 419 military barracks, storage structures, and multistoried administrative quarters.

Navy carrier planes raided in North Viet Nam along routes from Vinh south and west to the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, the spokesman said. Pilots reported destroying five bridges, cratering approaches to five more and cutting roads.

In the jungle and paddy war, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division continued to mete out punishment to hitherto entrenched Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars around Bong Son, 300 miles north of Saigon.

A day-long battle erupted Thursday when a company of cavalrymen jumped a reinforced weapons company of Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son.

The Americans called in a battalion of reinforcements and then a second battalion joined in the melee.

At day's end, the cavalry said they had 128 Viet Cong bodies, many killed by artillery and air attacks. Another 14 were killed in adjacent skirmishes.

Since the cavalry moved into the area the division has reported 944 enemy killed, 230 captured, and 183 weapons seized, including 33 big ones manned by crews.

An Army helicopter crashed 10 miles northeast of Saigon today, and six soldiers were killed. Circumstances of the crash were not immediately reported.

The soldier hero died when a Viet Cong company attacked a small unit of the 25th Division in ambush positions 25 miles west of Saigon near Chu Chi, scene of repeated furious battles since the 25th established a base there three weeks ago.

The Viet Cong fire was so heavy that nearly two platoons of reinforcements and jet napalm attacks were needed to get the beleaguered unit out. Six to 10 Viet Cong were reported killed; American casualties were officially described as "light to moderate."

In the air war against North Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman said U.S. Air Force planes for the past three days had lashed the air base at Dien Bien Phu, west of Hanoi, where the French lost their Indochina War in 1954.

The spokesman said 50 more buildings had been destroyed, bringing the total destruction to 253 buildings. The nearly four-square-mile area once consisted of 419 military barracks, storage structures, and multistoried administrative quarters.

Navy carrier planes raided in North Viet Nam along routes from Vinh south and west to the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos, the spokesman said. Pilots reported destroying five bridges, cratering approaches to five more and cutting roads.

In the jungle and paddy war, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division continued to mete out punishment to hitherto entrenched Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars around Bong Son, 300 miles north of Saigon.

A day-long battle erupted Thursday when a company of cavalrymen jumped a reinforced weapons company of Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son.

The Americans called in a battalion of reinforcements and then a second battalion joined in the melee.

At day's end, the cavalry said they had 128 Viet Cong bodies, many killed by artillery and air attacks. Another 14 were killed in adjacent skirmishes.

Since the cavalry moved into the area the division has reported 944 enemy killed, 230 captured, and 183 weapons seized, including 33 big ones manned by crews.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American soldier, still unidentified, died a hero's death yesterday when he used his body to smother a Viet Cong grenade tossed into a group of six GIs. Meanwhile two helicopter crashes within the last 24 hours have taken seven American lives.

A Marine helicopter crashed and burned while taking off at Phu Hai Thursday. One Marine was killed and four injured, two seriously. No explanation for the crash was given.

Soviet Says U.S. Violates A-Test Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet government charged Thursday that flights of American bombers carrying nuclear weapons violate the 1963 partial test ban treaty. However, the Soviets made no threat to withdraw from the treaty.

The Soviet charge was made at the 17-nation disarmament conference. The American delegate labeled the charge as "propaganda."

A memorandum read to the conference by Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said the collision and crash of an American B52 nuclear bomber in Spain last month led to radioactive contamination of the coastal waters of Spain and the Mediterranean.

Following the collision of the U.S. B52 bomber and a jet tanker over the southern coast of Spain, only three of the bomber's four nuclear bombs were recovered. A search is still being made for the fourth in the Mediterranean off the coast as well as on land.

However, the U.S. ambassador to Spain, Angier Biddle Duke, said on Feb. 3 after a visit to the area that U.S. specialists were taking water samples continuously in the search area and had found no signs of radioactivity.

U.S. Air Force officials had said previously that there was no danger of the missing bomb exploding because it was not armed.

QUIT "NAZI KLAN"—Trumpet player Ralph Pryor, 33, former Wilmington, Del., policeman who joined the Ku Klux Klan last August, tells the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington that he quit the Klan in January over a rally that was "more like a Nazi funeral than a Klan rally... I became sick at my stomach." He was Delaware's grand dragon. He said the rally included Prussian music and Hitler-style statements.

Viet Policy Probers Hear Gen. Taylor

Taylor told the committee members that the Communists clearly are not convinced that the United States is irrevocably committed to the support of South Viet Nam.

"They have not forgotten that the Viet Minh won more in Paris than in Dien Bien Phu and believe that the Viet Cong may be as fortunate in Washington," he said.

Taylor made good enough use of the forum Thursday to draw praise from committee members on both sides of the Asian policy debate.

To committee members worried that, as Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., put it, "there are no limits on forces employed insofar as our policy is concerned," Taylor gave this answer:

"Our ultimate objective is bringing Hanoi to change its course of action. That will be, in my judgment, when first it is clear that there can be no military victory for the Viet Cong in the South. That does not mean that they will be eliminated, that does not mean they are all captured or rounded up; it means a highly unfavorable military situation (for the Viet Cong) in South Viet Nam."

"Secondly, there has to be clear evidence that our air strength in North Viet Nam is going to apply continued pressure and they are going to suffer continuing losses and pain from the air in the North."

"Third, they are—the picture must include also the existence of a reasonably viable, reasonably stable, reasonably efficient government in Saigon, and fourth there must be the picture of a determined United States back home that is not going to be forced off course."

When all four conditions are met, added Taylor, "I am convinced we will then have brought Hanoi to the point they are willing to talk in a sincere way at a conference table."

Gore, however, pressed Taylor on how many American troops might be needed.

Q. "I wouldn't expect you to tell me the exact number, but can you tell me, is it 200,000, 600,000 or a million?"

A. "I would just say with the force we have we are imposing losses on the enemy which run about some 17,000 per month at the present time. Now, that is a very sizable number, and I would doubt that this force could continue at that rate. I think it is too narrow an experience base to try to project it. But it does suggest that no extremely large increase is necessary to impose these casualties."

The World Today

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defending its Vietnamese war policies before Congress and country, the Johnson administration is waging a fight against an old ghost of the Eisenhower administration 12 years ago.

The present leadership is trying, as Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor did Thursday, to bury the "falling domino" theory as an argument for preventing Communist conquest of South Viet Nam. President Dwight D. Eisenhower advanced the theory at a news conference in 1954; its authorship has been generally attributed to his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

Tax Returns Are Due by April 30

Personal property tax returns must be filed no later than April 30, 1966, according to Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoads, Pickaway County Auditor.

Miss Rhoads noted that persons must file the returns if they were engaged in business on Dec. 31, 1965, or if they owned investments on Jan. 1, 1966, consisting of stocks, bonds, notes, land contracts and other similar property.

Books opened for the payments on Tuesday, according to Mrs. Maxine Radcliff, personal property tax deputy. She said that she had already received payment for approximately 100 taxpayers.

Persons who must file include manufacturers, merchants, contractors, farmers, lawyers, doctors, dentists and accountants. They must list all inventories, supplies, equipment and fixtures used in business.

IN ADDITION to persons actively engaged in business, every person who rents furnished rooms or apartments must file a tax return, listing the furniture and other equipment.

Investments are taxed at two per cent if they produced no income, or five per cent of the income yield if they were productive.

All personal property taxes, paid to the county treasurer, are used for area schools, libraries, health departments, police and fire services.

Taylor told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he does not approve of this theory "if it means belief in a law of nature which requires the collapse of each neighboring state in an inevitable sequence following a Communist victory in South Viet Nam."

Taylor went on to warn against "the possible effects worldwide" if "the (Communist) war of liberation scores a significant victory" in Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has taken a similar stand on the "domino theory." Like Taylor, he contends the automatic collapse of other Southeast Asian countries — Burma, Thailand, Cambodia, Laos, Malaysia — would not necessarily follow if South Viet Nam should fall. He also argues that "the integrity of the American commitment" all over the world is at stake in Viet Nam.

Such arguments seem to obscure the issue. If U.S. abandonment of South Viet Nam at this stage of the game would wreck the faith of Western Europeans in American defense commitments, it seems obvious that the impact on the countries of Southeast Asia would be even greater. No country there has the power to stand alone against Red China.

An underlying consideration of U.S. strategy for years, in fact, has been that the fall of South Viet Nam to communism would open the way for Red conquest of other countries in the area. Conversely, many top officials believe that the defeat last fall of Communist China's ambition to communize Indonesia was made possible by the political atmosphere created by U.S. defense of South Viet Nam.

The difference between Eisenhower's view of the consequences of a Communist victory in Southeast Asia and the Johnson administration's view seems to be small in essence. Eisenhower told a news conference: "You have a row of dominoes set up; you knock over the first one, and what will happen to the last one is a certainty... It will go over very quickly." Present administration officials simply dispute the point that the process would be automatic — without insisting that the ultimate result might be substantially changed.

The difference is enlightening however, for small as it is it illustrates how greatly the strategic situation has been altered in Southeast Asia since 1954. When Eisenhower spoke of falling dominoes on April 7 that year, French armies were being defeated in Indochina and a power vacuum was in the making.

Today the United States is heavily engaged in Viet Nam. It is giving military and economic assistance to the avowedly neutralist government of Laos. It has a powerful and growing military position in Thailand. Its sea and air power are dominant in the area. Under Johnson, its commitment to defend South Viet Nam against Communist conquest is total.

WASHINGTON (AP) — De-fending its Vietnamese war pol-icies before Congress and coun-try, the Johnson administration is waging a fight against an old ghost of an issue from the early days of the Eisenhower admin-istration 12 years ago.

The present leadership is trying, as Gen. Maxwell D. Tay-lor did Thursday, to bury the "falling domino" theory as an argument for preventing Com-munist conquest of South Viet Nam. President Dwight D. A Passion Against Anonymity

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The most saving grace of man is his desire to be different.

We live in an age of mass conformity. But no matter how meek and obedient to patterns and programs we may be, each one of us has a secret passion against anonymity.

If you become well enough acquainted with any person, you will find he cherishes some fact of distinction that yields him separate identity. It is a very human need.

For example, once I met a man of late middle years who, while reminiscing, remarked he had turned in two fire alarms during his life.

"What's so unusual about that?" one of his listeners asked.

"Well," said the man, "have you ever met anyone else who has turned in two fire alarms?"

His point was obvious. Most people are born, married, raise a family, pay off a mortgage, and die without ever having to turn in even one fire alarm.

Some people become stand-outs on purpose. Like Alexander the Great, they conquer the world. Or they sell a refrigerator to an Eskimo.

Those are deliberate men of distinction. They win immortality or brief notoriety by great deeds or freak performances that catch the long admiration or short-lived attention of mankind.

William Shakespeare, naturally, will be remembered as long as the English language is. Turning to the other category, perhaps the name of Philip Yazzik already has faded from your memory. But in Chicago on April 25, 1955, Yazzik accomplished the record feat of consuming 77 hamburgers at one sitting.

But whether he seeks or avoids the glare of the limelight, a man can always find something in his life that lifts him from the dead level of the commonplace. Something has happened to him somewhere along the way that makes him different.

And the difference doesn't have to be an occurrence rich or greatly strange.

Mulling over the distinctions that set me apart from my fellows, I think I have three that are perhaps noteworthy:

So far as I know, I am the only American who broke a molar while chewing on a candy bar during our military campaign in Tunisia in 1943.

So far as I know, I am the only husband in the United States whose wife calls him "Rover."

So far as I know, I am the only living human being who has been hit by a parked bridge in Missouri while riding in an auto, struck by a motorcycle while watching a parade in Paris, and run over by a horse-drawn milk wagon in Greenwich Village.

These may be odd claims to individual fame, but they helped make me me. What happened to make you you?

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen have been building up their inventories at the fastest clip since the Korean War days of 1951. And his helps give a rosier glow to the economy in general.

It also raises some questions: — Can the sharp spurt in inventory building in the first weeks of 1965 be traced to a speculative frame of mind—a belief that business is sure to increase its already fast pace — Or are businessmen afraid of inflation — and thus buying materials and goods now before an expected price increase?

— Or is the inventory buildup just a delayed catching up with the rapid growth of sales? Earlier in 1965 inventory building was lagging behind the pace of sales.

Government economists may not be sure which one, or which combination, caused the fourth quarter rush to build up stocks. But as to what it did for the economy in general they have figures.

Twice within a month they have revised upward their estimate of 1965's Gross National Product. They now put this total of government and private production of goods and services at a record $676.3 billion. In current dollars the increase over 1964 was 7.5 per cent. In constant dollars, adjusted for the rise in prices, the gain was 5.5 per cent.

The inventory buildup gets the major credit for the upward revised rate for the fourth quarter to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 697.2 billion. In the third quarter the annual rate was 681.5 billion.

In the final three months of the year inventory pileup was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $10.1 billion. The previous quarter it had been $7.6 billion.

Government spending also rose, particularly in the final months of the year. And this trend is continuing in the new year.

That is why government economists are watching the rise in inventories so closely. If the buildup is due to fears of inflation, it might be catching.

Trading medical information is the way we close our monthly reading club meetings. The conflicting opinions about the measles vaccine has us all confused. How necessary is it? Are there different kinds? Is gamma globulin as good to prevent measles?

Mrs. A.Y., Virginia Dear Mrs. Y. It is completely understandable that health topics would be of interest to a group of mothers. Yet, it is generally wise to realize that there is rarely one and only one way to treat any medical condition. What is excellent treatment for one child may not be as good for another.

My doctor says "hot", while your doctor says "cold" is confusing when trading health tidbits. But there is no confusion for the doctor who knows that extremes of heat or cold accomplish the same thing.

Now, about measles and vaccination.

It is said that almost 400 deaths occurred in 1965 from measles, the disease that is casually taken for granted.

These deaths in pre-school children might have been avoided had they been vaccinated.

The complications that can follow measles are sometimes severe. Inflammation of the brain, kidneys and lungs are far too serious to allow any child to remain unvaccinated. Immunization against measles is not only necessary it is imperative.

There are a number of different strains of the measles virus from which vaccines are made. These are technical differences only for your physician's judgment.

The Schwartz strain of measles virus is somewhat different from the Edmonston strain. The reactions may be greater with the Edmonston vaccine. Both are equally effective, almost 99 per cent, for the prevention of measles.

The choice of a "live" virus vaccine depends on the age of the child and the decision of your doctor.

The number of injections and the time for booster "shots" for both the live and killed viruses are so established as to give long-lasting, even lifetime, immunity against measles.

Gamma globulin is not the same nor is it a substitute for the measles vaccine. Gamma globulin is a substance processed from blood.

This is used to prevent measles, if an unvaccinated child has been exposed to the disease. Gamma globulin, given soon after the exposure, can reduce the severity of measles if it does occur.

It must be clearly understood that gamma globulin does not produce immunity against measles as does the vaccine itself.

There may be some variation of opinion about the use of live or killed vaccine. There is no variation of opinion about the absolute need to vaccinate and immunize all children, the world over, against a disease which still is a threat to their lives.

Measles can be eradicated. Your group and similar ones can be the driving force to accomplish this objective.

Under One Big Tent

By John Chamberlain

This column has no love for the Communists, but they are at least honest in proclaiming their political strategies to the world. The word has gone out to the faithful, via articles in such publications as the World Marxist Review, that we are now entering a new "united front from the Left" period. The showing made by Francois Mitterand, the candidate of the Leftist coalition who did so well against de Gaulle in the French presidential run-off election, is offered as a model of what can be achieved by the newly-blessed "unitarian" strategy in which all supporters of "peace, liberalism and co-existence" are welcomed under one big tent.

Insofar as the U. S. is concerned, the problem of the "co-existing" Left is complicated by the fact that President Lyndon Johnson has refused to make a pell-mell retreat from South Vietnam. So the "united front from the Left" must try to achieve its aims by lumping Johnson Democrats together with the Goldwater Republicans. The strategy, here, will be to enter "peace" candidates against Johnson supporters in the Congressional races next fall.

Whether this will hurt Johnson candidates or not depends, of course, on the extent and depth of feeling in this country against our course of action in Vietnam. Since the "peace" demonstrations inevitably get "man bites dog" consideration in the news, their importance could be overblown. But anything can happen between now and next fall. If the war in Vietnam goes well, and we seem to be winning without any great sacrifice of manpower, the "peace" vote might turn out to be just as feeble as the pacifist vote proved to be in Britain in the most recent by-election. If, on the other hand, the Johnson policy seems to be suffering from indecisiveness and cloudiness of aim, the peace candidates might accomplish the miracle of undercutting Democrats and returning twenty or thirty more Republicans to Congress.

One of the danger points could be the Seventh Congressional District of California, which includes the Bay cities of Oakland and Berkeley. Here a "peace" named Robert Scheer threatens to enter the Democratic primary against the incumbent Congressman Jeffrey Cohelan, who, though far from being a bitter-ender on the subject of the Vietnamese War, has tended to support the Johnson policy. (Cohelan was one of the House members who hoped we would extend the bombing moratorium, but he has loyally proclaimed his belief in the good intentions of President Johnson's peace efforts.) Scheer, if he fails to defeat Cohelan in the primary, has indicated that he will be available as an "independent" third party candidate.

The whole prospect is laced with irony, for on home front matters Cohelan has gone down the line in support of liberal legislation. Personally, this columnist should be highly critical of some of Cohelan's activities. Cohelan has accused me of a "lack of homework" on the issue of farm labor. He says the banishment of Mexican bracero labor from the fields and orchards of California resulted in "no serious crop losses due to labor shortages." But the California Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, while it admits that gross farm income in California was higher in 1965 than in 1964, says that "California's net farm income has been virtually static for the last ten years and 1965 net income will probably show some reduction from other recent years." As for crop losses,

"there were worker shortages (and) . . . some crop losses occurred in the harvest of asparagus, brussels sprouts, and strawberries. Loss of tomatoes also occurred in Merced County. Growers also experienced difficulty in getting field workers to pick all of the marketable melons." The statistics of the Reporting Service are commended to Representative Cohelan.

Coming from an urban area, it is perhaps natural that Cohelan take the "city left" view of the bracero troubles. For myself, I'd forgive him a lot simply because he is being attacked from the "left of the left," by a man who is oblivious to the danger of Viet Cong victory in South Vietnam. Robert Scheer's pamphlet, "How the United States Got Involved in Vietnam," a report to the "Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions," is a plausible but specious bit of reasoning which, by extension, could lose all of southeast Asia to the Communists. It should be answered decisively at the polls. Whether it will or not depends on the leadership supplied by LBJ.

In St. Louis, Mo., there is an appalling attempt by government to destroy a benefactor of mankind.

The public health department there is insisting that Earl Mugele turn over to it his exact recipe for German sausage. Anyone whose taste buds have ever been titillated by the delightful blend of meat and spices that is German sausage, knows that this concoction is a real work of art.

German sausages do not just happen.

They are formed painstakingly by following recipes which are masterpieces. Mugele and his family have been jealously guarding their sausage recipe for over 100 years.

Mugele is willing to tell the health department the ingredients — but not the exact recipe. He is absolutely right.

There are some areas too sacred to be trampled by the heavy foot of government officials.

A Passion Against Anonymity

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The most saving grace of man is his desire to be different.

We live in an age of mass conformity. But no matter how meek and obedient to patterns and programs we all may be, each one of us has a secret passion against anonymity.

If you become well enough acquainted with any person, you will find he cherishes some fact of distinction that yields him separate identity. It is a very human need.

For example, once I met a man of late middle years who, while reminiscing, remarked he had turned in two fire alarms during his life.

Municipal Court Compiles Annual Financial Report

The 12th annual financial report for Circleville Municipal court released by Judge Sterling M. Lamb lists gross receipts from criminal and civil actions at $105,609.19.

According to the report, which was prepared by Judge Lamb and court clerk, Naomi L. Houghton, the bulk of the income came from fines and bond forfeitures collected in criminal cases.

Income from this source totaled $68,870.75 for the year. Total costs collected from criminal cases were $32,951.90. Receipts from city traffic tickets accounted for $1,440.75 for the court, costs from civil cases were $2,333.79. The judge performed four marriages during the year, listing receipts at $12 from this source.

Expenses of operating the court totaled $22,578.29, including $15,497.04 in salaries.

THE JUDGE'S salary for the year was $8,575.68. Of this total, the county of Pickaway paid $3,430.28 and the city $5,145.40.

Acting judges who sat on the bench during the absence of Judge Lamb were paid $786.06. The clerk received $3,789, two deputy clerks' salaries totaled $5,740 and the bailiff's wages were $3,120.

In addition to his salary, the bailiff received $1,446.38 in mileage expenses for the use of his private automobile in serving criminal and civil papers and conducting investigations. Serving as court bailiffs this year were Russell Ogan and Richard Lamb.

Ogan was given a leave of absence to temporarily fill a vacancy with the city police department. Lamb was appointed bailiff pro-tem.

Other expenses of the court were:

2 Pregnant Sisters To Be Sterilized

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A judge has ordered the sterilization of two pregnant, unmarried sisters judged to be mentally incompetent.

The girls' mother requested the operation.

Richland County Probate Court Judge Charles Freehafer said Thursday the women, 19 and 21-year-old, have intelligence quotients of 6-year-olds or less.

"Doctors came to me with the dilemma," Freehafer said. "I advised them what legal procedures to follow to bring the matter officially to my attention. The mother wanted the sterilization done."

"There will be some criticism," he said. "It will have to fall."

Freehafer ruled the operation was necessary for the women's health and safety. The surgery is scheduled after their babies are born next month. Neither of the women has other children.

Freehafer said to his knowledge only one other Ohio probate judge had issued a court order for sterilization. That was in Muskingum County in 1962, he said.

He said Ohio law regarding feeble-minded persons provides that the judge "shall then take such action and make such orders as he deems necessary to provide for the detention, supervision, care and maintenance of said feeble-minded person."

Alfred Sloan, Auto Tycoon, Dies at 90

NEW YORK (AP) — In his 90 years Alfred P. Sloan Jr. saw the automobile develop from a novelty to the industrial backbone of the nation. He was among the men who made it happen.

He took the moderately successful General Motors Corp., in 1920, made it function smoother than the ball bearings he once sold, and wrought the mightiest manufacturing enterprise the world has known.

When Sloan stepped down as chairman in 1955, General Motors' share of the automobile market was 52 per cent.

His formula for success was simple.

"Get the facts. Recognize the equities of all concerned. Realize the necessity of doing a better job every day. Keep an open mind and work hard. The last is most important of all. There is no short cut."

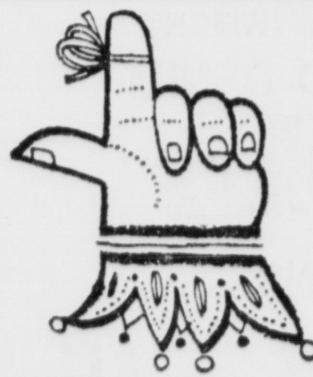

Sloan, who remained as honorary chairman, had been in excellent health until Tuesday, when he complained of indigestion. He was taken the next day to Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, a hospital his philanthropy had established.

He died at the hospital at 2:35 p.m. Thursday.

Safety Expert Claims Seat Belts Help Little

LEE, N.H. (AP) — A retired millionaire who has devoted years to studying auto safety says the regular seat belt installed in cars "has no protective value."

Andrew J. White, 60, says that in many instances a regular seat belt "reduces the chances for survival in a traffic accident."

"The seat belt leaves the head, the most vulnerable part of the anatomy, to act as a sledgehammer against the windshield and dashboard," said White in an interview.

White recommends instead a harness which he designed and says "is far superior to a regular seat belt."

Wearing one, he drove a car at 50 miles per hour into a two-foot-thick brick wall and he was uninjured.

The harness is a V-shaped yoke attached to the roof of the car.

White said it can be fastened in three seconds. "First you put on the lap strap, release two clips that hold the harness near the sun visors and attach the clips onto the strap."

White, who is president of the Motor Vehicle Research of New Hampshire Inc., designed the harness to include a seat belt, a shoulder strap, and a head sling. He said more than 10 years of study of actual accidents and numerous tests performed by his nonprofit firm proved the harness is the best safety device available.

"More than 80 per cent of all fatal accidents involve head injuries. The harness is the only way to protect the head," said White. He has been safety consultant to U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and to numerous firms ranging from U.S. Steel to B.F. Goodrich.

White retired from his engineering business in 1952 and has since devoted his energies to various phases of safety research. His firm has staged more than 200 controlled crashes here. All were filmed by high-speed movie cameras.

In each instance dummies wearing seat belts in the front seat suffered severe head blows, said White.

Fiance Is Handcuffed, Taken to Cop House

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Lawrence Hopper, 22, won't easily forget the day he took his fiance handcuffed to police headquarters.

And his fiance, Carolyn Berwick, 19, has not robbed any banks.

The handcuffs were handed down in Hooper's family with a pile of dusty heirlooms he and Carolyn were examining.

Carolyn's curiosity got the best of her and she clapped them on her wrists, before inquiring whether there was a key.

Search at headquarters uncovered a key that fit.

Indian Burial Blankets Get Official Nod

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The blankets in which Indians are buried constitute a legitimate funeral expense, Arizona's attorney general has ruled.

By state law, up to $100 may be paid from state welfare funds for "reasonable funeral expenses" of those on old age or blind assistance.

Atty. Gen. Darrell Smith said Wednesday he couldn't find anything in Arizona law books about it. But he noted that the New York Supreme Court defined as funeral costs those "such as the expenses of a wake and mourning apparel, flowers and music."

Reservation Indians who die traditionally are wrapped in blankets and their saddles are buried with them.

The question came up when Welfare Commissioner John O. Graham asked whether charges for tribal burial items could properly be paid by his department.

Municipal Court Compiles Annual Financial Report

The 12th annual financial report for Circleville Municipal court released by Judge Sterling M. Lamb lists gross receipts from criminal and civil actions at $105,609.19.

According to the report, which was prepared by Judge Lamb and court clerk, Naomi L. Houghton, the bulk of the income came from fines and bond forfeitures collected in criminal cases.

Income from this source totaled $68,870.75 for the year. Total costs collected from criminal cases were $32,951.90. Receipts from city traffic tickets accounted for $1,440.75 for the court, costs from civil cases were $2,333.79. The judge performed four marriages during the year, listing receipts at $12 from this source.

Expenses of operating the court totaled $22,578.29, including $15,497.04 in salaries.

THE JUDGE'S salary for the year was $8,575.68. Of this total, the county of Pickaway paid $3,430.28 and the city $5,145.40.

Acting judges who sat on the bench during the absence of Judge Lamb were paid $786.06. The clerk received $3,780, two deputy clerks' salaries totaled $5,740 and the bailiff's wages were $3,120.

In addition to his salary, the bailiff received $1,446.38 in mileage expenses for the use of his private automobile in serving criminal and civil papers and conducting investigations. Serving as court bailiffs this year were Russell Ogan and Richard Lamb.

Ogan was given a leave of absence to temporarily fill a vacancy with the city police department. Lamb was appointed bailiff pro-tem.

Other expenses of the court were:

Paid to sheriff for boarding prisoners, $1,409.50; paid to Cincinnati Workhouse for boarding prisoners, $1,555; paid for office equipment, $157.50; paid for supplies, $2,220.76; witness fees, $68.60; bond premiums for employees, $62.50; legal books and supplements, $15.46; photostat machine, $87.50; blood alcohol tests, $3; postage stamps, entry and detention, $55.05.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Let It Be Known!

DEAR ABBY: I have positive proof that my husband is running around with five women in this neighborhood. Three live on this block and all have good and faithful husbands. Then there is a divorcee down the street, and a young widow in the next block. Each thinks she is the only one. I hate to walk down the street because I know who they are. What should I do?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you want to break up the harem, invite them all for coffee and conversation and tell them what they have in common. That should cut down the membership considerably. And don't worry about punishing your husband. The others will take care of that!

DEAR ABBY: A real nice guy who works with me has been looking awfully tired lately, so I asked him if he had not been feeling well. He replied, "Our six-year-old boy has always slept with the wife and me because he's afraid to sleep alone. Now we bought him a dog that's part-German Shepherd and part-Labrador, and the boy won't go to sleep unless he has the dog next to him, so I don't get much sleep in such crowded conditions." He was absolutely serious.

Abby, how idiotic can people be?

AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: A father who lets his six-year-old son sleep with him and his wife, and then can't say no when the boy demands to include the dog, is in for many more sleepless nights. This "real nice" guy needs a "real good friend" to tell him what's what.

DEAR ABBY: Years ago I entered into a "shotgun" marriage. The agreement was that we marry to legalize the child's birth, the mother would raise the child, and we would go our separate ways. We never lived together.

Several years later my "wife" called me from another town to tell me that she had gotten a divorce and had remarried. I then remarried a lovely girl.

The other day my first wife MAILED me some divorce papers to sign! She admitted she had lied to me about having obtained the divorce years ago, and she is just now getting it.

Abby, I have a wife and family. How do I get out of this mess without a lot of publicity? Can we secretly marry quickly in another state? For obvious reasons I can't divulge my name, and don't want to discuss this with a lawyer.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: When people have a medical problem, they can't get a doctor fast enough. Why, then, when they have a legal problem, are they reluctant to get a lawyer? Laws are made to HELP people as well as to punish them, you know. And a lawyer can protect you by telling you what your rights are.

MISS CONSTANCE A. REED

Miss Reed Engaged to Mr. England

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Reed, Chillicothe, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Constance A., to Mr. Lyman E. England II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. England, 230 Logan St.

The bride-elect, a 1964 graduate of Chillicothe High School, is employed by Alcoa.

Mr. England, a 1964 graduate of Circleville High School, is attending Columbus Data Processing School. He is employed by F. & R. Lazarus and Co., Columbus.

Personals

Miss Shelley Breece, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Breece, Route 1, Ashville, a sixth grade student at Walnut Twp. School, received honorable mention in the recent DAR Historical Essay contest. Her name was inadvertently omitted from the list of winners.

Eilene Wood, owner of Eilene's Hairstyling, was guest speaker and styled Mrs. James Hodge's hair. A question and answer session followed.

Mrs. James Hodge, chairman, named committees for the Las Vegas Party.

A thank you note was read from Mrs. Winfield Koch of the Childrens Home stating that the donation from the club was used to buy a light for the boys' room and rugs for the infirmary.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Jerry Erzen, Mrs. John Vendilinski, Mrs. Charles Orr and Mrs. Charles Emhardt.

St. Anne's Guild Plans Future Events

Committee reports were presented when St. Anne's Guild of St. Philip's Episcopal Church met in the home of Mrs. Larry Priest.

Plans were discussed for the annual "Come and Taste Tea" to be held in April. It was announced that a series of study sessions will be held at the church every Wednesday and Sunday during Lent. The Rev. William Huber will conduct the sessions.

Eight members of the group presented a playlet entitled, "Facades."

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Dave Craven.

Miss Warner Feted At Birthday Party

Sondra Warner was honored with a surprise birthday party given by Debbie Huffer, Stoutsville. The evening was spent dancing.

Others present were Dave Dickinson, Lola Swank, Victor Hunt, Linda Young, Steve Kinser, Sandy Hooker, Joey Denney, Mary Lou Huffer, Tom Garrett and Tom Gobel.

Jaycee Wives Hold Founders Day Dinner

Twelve members of the Jaycee Wives Club attended the Founders Day Dinner at the Pickaway Arms.

U.S. Men's Opinions Split About Above-Knee Skirts

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — In grandpa's day the first sight of a shapely ankle peeping demurely from beneath a short-skirted skirt — maybe four inches from the floor — sent many a gay blade into raptures.

To the serious family man of that time, though, it was cause to fulminate against the wicked wiles of womankind.

Today the baring of the next — and less graceful — joint, the knee, is again dividing public opinion.

With the Paris couturiers mostly signing off dresses two or three inches above the knee, a London columnist has suggested Queen Elizabeth II raise her skirts a bit. Hers are now 3½ inches below the knees.

Here in this country a random sampling of knowledgeable men shows that even those most opposed to the premature hemline are more wistfully resigned than vehement.

With a shrug, David McCallum, a "Man from U.N.C.L.E.," says peaceably: "Why not? So they'll go up an inch or two and then they'll go down below the knee an inch or two and then maybe back up again."

But bare knee fashions struck out with Gil Hodges, manager of the Washington Senators baseball club.

"I don't care for them," Hodges says. "To me, short skirts are for a young child to wear."

On the other hand, Andy Warhol, a leading pop artist, likes them. "The shorter the skirt the better for the space age," he says. "They'll go very, very short and then turn into shorts."

Dr. Alan Simpson, president of Vassar College, says: "On the whole, most girls — except those at Vassar of course —

don't have good enough legs to be exposed above the knee. Mid-thigh would certainly be going too far."

Social historian and critic Cleveland Amory diplomatically skirts the issue of bare knees. "With some girls," asks Amory, "what man would want to knock it? But with other girls, let's face it, no knees is good news."

"Any man who doesn't enjoy looking at pretty legs must be evil," says singer-actor Sammy Davis Jr. Then he directed himself to women: "If you're going to be a girl, be a girl. If you've got it to show, show it — but not too much. Short skirts, as I see it, isn't too much."

The dean of American fashion designers, Norman Norell, who was holding the line against bare knees last fall, says now:

"You have to go along with the times. You can't hold out. In my own collection I'm going a little shorter, hitting the top of the knee, shadowing the knee a little bit. But next season something should be done with stockings to smooth out the knee."

10 Children Taken From Xenia Couple

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — The 10 children, age 2-15 of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Blakely of rural Xenia were placed in permanent custody of Greene County authorities Thursday for neglect.

Judge Omar A. Schwartz said the couple failed to heed repeated warnings about living conditions at their place and finally two of their boys, age 9 and 5, tried to set fire to a neighbor's house and drove a stolen truck into a tree.

Fill the cavities of pear halves (fresh or canned) with a mixture of cream cheese and cottage cheese; serve on salad greens.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Let It Be Known!

DEAR ABBY: I have positive proof that my husband is running around with five women in this neighborhood. Three live on this block and all have good and faithful husbands. Then there is a divorcee down the street, and a young widow in the next block. Each thinks she is the only one. I hate to walk down the street because I know who they are. What should I do?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you want to break up the harem, invite them all for coffee and conversation and tell them what they have in common. That should cut down the membership considerably. And don't worry about punishing your husband. The others will take care of that!

DEAR ABBY: A real nice guy who works with me has been looking awfully tired lately. So I asked him if he had not been feeling well. He replied, "Our six-year-old boy has always slept with the wife and me because he's afraid to sleep alone. Now we bought him a dog that's part-German Shepherd and part-Labrador, and the boy won't go to sleep unless he has the dog next to him, so I don't get much sleep in such crowded conditions." He was absolutely serious.

Abby, how idiotic can people be?

AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: A father who lets his six-year-old son sleep with him and his wife, and then can't say no when the boy demands to include the dog, is in for many more sleepless nights. This "real nice" guy needs a "real good friend" to tell him what's what.

DEAR ABBY: Years ago I entered into a "shotgun" marriage. The agreement was that we marry to legalize the child's birth, the mother would raise the child, and we would go our separate ways. We never lived together.

Several years later my "wife" called me from another town to tell me that she had gotten a divorce and had remarried. I then remarried a lovely girl.

The other day my first wife MAILED me some divorce papers to sign! She admitted she had lied to me about having obtained the divorce years ago, and she is just now getting it.

Abby, I have a wife and family. How do I get out of this mess without a lot of publicity? Can we secretly marry quickly in another state? For obvious reasons I can't divulge my name, and don't want to discuss this with a lawyer.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: When people have a medical problem, they can't get a doctor fast enough. Why, then, when they have a legal problem, are they reluctant to get a lawyer? Laws are made to help people as well as to punish them, you know. And a lawyer can protect you by telling you what your rights are.

Miss Reed Engaged to Mr. England

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Reed, Chillicothe, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Constance A., to Mr. Lyman E. England II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. England, 230 Logan St.

The bride-elect, a 1964 graduate of Chillicothe High School, is employed by Alcoa.

Mr. England, a 1964 graduate of Circleville High School, is attending Columbus Data Processing School. He is employed by F. & R. Lazarus and Co., Columbus.

Mrs. James Hodge, chairman, named committees for the Las Vegas Party.

A thank you note was read from Mrs. Winfield Koch of the Childrens Home stating that the donation from the club was used to buy a light for the boys' room and rugs for the infirmary.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Jerry Erzen, Mrs. John Vendilinski, Mrs. Charles Orr and Mrs. Charles Emhardt.

St. Anne's Guild Plans Future Events

Committee reports were presented when St. Anne's Guild of St. Philip's Episcopal Church met in the home of Mrs. Larry Priest.

Plans were discussed for the annual "Come and Taste Tea" to be held in April. It was announced that a series of study sessions will be held at the church every Wednesday and Sunday during Lent. The Rev. William Huber will conduct the sessions.

Eight members of the group presented a playlet entitled, "Facades."

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Dave Craven.

U.S. Men's Opinions Split About Above-Knee Skirts

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — In grandpa's day the first sight of a shapely ankle peeping demurely from beneath a short-skirted skirt — maybe four inches from the floor — sent many a gay blade into raptures.

To the serious family man of that time, though, it was cause to fume, against the wicked wiles of womankind.

Today the baring of the next — and less graceful — joint, the knee, is again dividing public opinion.

With the Paris couturiers mostly signing off dresses two or three inches above the knee, a London columnist has suggested Queen Elizabeth II raise her skirts a bit. Hers are now 3½ inches below the knees.

Here in this country a random sampling of knowledgeable men shows that even those most opposed to the premature hemline are more wistfully resigned than vehement.

With a shrug, David McCallum, a "Man from U.N.C.L.E.," says peaceably: "Why not? So they'll go up an inch or two and then they'll go down below the knee an inch or two and then maybe back up again."

But bare knee fashions struck out with Gil Hodges, manager of the Washington Senators baseball club.

"I don't care for them," Hodges says. "To me, short skirts are for a young child to wear."

On the other hand, Andy Warhol, a leading pop artist, likes them. "The shorter the skirt the better for the space age," he says. "They will go very, very short and then turn into shorts."

Dr. Alan Simpson, president of Vassar College, says: "On the whole, most girls — except those at Vassar of course —

don't have good enough legs to be exposed above the knee. Mid-thigh would certainly be going too far."

Social historian and critic Cleveland Amory diplomatically skirts the issue of bare knees. "With some girls," asks Amory, "what man would want to knock it? But with other girls, let's face it, no knees is good news."

"Any man who doesn't enjoy looking at pretty legs must be evil," says singer-actor Sammy Davis Jr. Then he directed himself to women: "If you're going to be a girl, be a girl. If you've got it to show, show it — but not too much. Short skirts, as I see it, isn't too much."

The dean of American fashion designers, Norman Norell, who was holding the line against bare knees last fall, says now:

"You have to go along with the times. You can't hold out. In my own collection I'm going a little shorter, hitting the top of the knee, shadowing the knee a little bit. But next season something should be done with stockings to smooth out the knee."

'Tower' Plan To Be Revised

Research Center Thinking Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Board of Regents will take a look today at revised proposals to construct regional research centers aimed at helping solve problems of Ohio industries in their areas.

Chancellor John D. Millett said the board will be asked to reconsider and rescind original proposals for the construction of regional "tower" centers and study another plan.

This new plan would limit the towers to individual campus centers designed to serve the particular industrial needs of each university district.

Last November the regents asked the state universities to evaluate the prospects of success for five regional research centers to be operated jointly by neighboring universities in the northeast, southeast, northwest, southwest and central portions of Ohio. Each center would consist of a 10-story tower costing $3.1 million and a 400-seat conference center carrying an estimated price tag of $760,000.

Millett believes Ohio's primary mission in research services is to assist the industries it already has. To do this, research centers have to build campus-by-campus and focused on the particular needs of the particular section of the state, he said.

"We're not turning our backs on the idea (of regional centers)," Millett said, "we've just learned more about the problem."

For example, he said, a research center at Toledo University focused on the problems of the glass industry is more practical than a joint Bowling Green-Toledo center trying to serve the same function. Expansion of the small agriculture research facilities at Bowling Green to meet the problems of rural Wood County would be more feasible, according to the chancellor.

A regional center in northeastern Ohio, operated by Kent State University, the University of Akron and Cleveland State University, still might prove feasible because of the close proximity of the three schools, he said.

Industries Urged To Aid Schools

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Local industries should be adapted to the public school system for vocational training of young people, Carroll County School Supt. William Knisely suggests.

Knisely proposed that vocational instruction given by local industries in cooperation with public schools would be cheaper and better than establishment of separate vocational schools.

"We don't know what industry wants in the way of employees," he said in an interview, and vocational schools may find themselves offering training that cannot be utilized by existing industries in their areas.

This means, he said, graduates of such public vocational schools must either leave the area to find jobs or try to learn new skills to find employment in local industry.

He suggested that school districts, perhaps with state or federal support, could set up joint programs in which local industries would offer vocational classes for public school students. The students would continue to get academic training in regular high schools.

Armco Steel Plans Expansion in Texas

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Armco Steel Corp. says it plans a $25 million mill which will be the nucleus of an expansion and modernization program at its Houston, Tex., works.

Armco President William Verity said Thursday the present structural mill will be replaced by a wide-flange facility capable of turning out structural shapes 24 inches in depth. The target date for completion is 1968.

Verity also said Armco will increase production capacity for heat-treated plates by 100 per cent, for plate milling by 20 per cent and for iron smelting by 33 per cent.

County Aides under State Civil Service To Be Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Putting Ohio's county employees under state civil service procedures would cost thousands of dollars to start and possibly $200,000 a year to continue.

A suit filed in nearby Delaware by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association seeks, in effect, to force county governments to use the state civil service system in hiring and promoting employees.

The suit does not name State

Personnel Director Wayne Ward, but it is his office which would be affected most by any ruling that counties must use state civil service procedures.

"I am a very interested spectator," said Ward, who said it would take a lot of time and money just to classify various county jobs so civil service procedures could be followed.

Then it might cost $200,000 a year to administer the program for counties, he said.

Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of the Civil Service Employees Association who filed the Delaware suit, contends only one county, Hamilton, is following the state law.

All counties use state personnel procedures for employees in welfare departments and other agencies covered by federal regulations. Hamilton is the only county in which nearly all jobs are classified under a form of civil service.

It took Ward's department three months just to classify that county's jobs.

Doing the same job statewide would take even longer — and even then it wouldn't be possible to develop a truly uniform plan because state law allows elected county officials to set pay scales for their employees, Ward said.

"You could have a thousand different salary plans in the state," Ward said.

The law which Watkins says requires counties to use state civil service procedures has been on the books since 1913.

Ward said, but the personnel department's first job is to administer the program for state employees.

It moves into the county area "as far as time and money permit," he said.

He estimated perhaps 15,000 to 20,000 county employees now are covered by merit procedures. Watkins estimates Ohio's 88 counties have 35,000 employees but Ward thinks the total is higher.

Ward said the personnel department "will do whatever is necessary" under any court ruling, but that a decision that counties must set state civil service procedures would force a request for a higher appropriation.

How Weather Looks Today

McGuffey's Home Named As Landmark

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The house in which William Holmes McGuffey compiled his famous Electric Readers was made a national historic landmark Thursday.

McGuffey wrote his readers when he was a young Miami University professor in the 1830s. They were credited with having "shaped the minds and the morals of several generations of young Americans."

The two-story frame house on the Miami campus was built by McGuffey and he used it as a center for conducting reading classes for neighborhood chil-

Cincy Attorney To Test Federal Silver Situation

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati attorney, Lee J. Vesper, left for New York today to see if the United States government will keep its promise to pay silver "to the bearer on demand."

He hopes to return with a 1,000-ounce bar of pure silver.

His purpose, he says, is "to have the pleasure of saying to the government, 'you think you can make rules so tough that nobody can take advantage of them. Well, I did.'"

It all started, he said, when silver dollars were beginning to get scarce. A businessman-client of his wanted 100 silver dollars to give away to his customers on keychains.

None could be found in local banks.

So, Vesper wrote to the Treasury Department in Washington and the reply was: No silver dollars available.

He wrote back, telling the government that silver certificates promise that Uncle Sam will exchange the bills for silver if the bearer demands it.

The Treasury Department replied this time: If you want silver you have to go to either New York or San Francisco to get it, and you have to take it in 1,000-ounce lots. Nothing less.

"People told me I couldn't do it," Vesper said. "So I thought, 'I wonder if I can?'"

He began saving bills designated as silver certificates. With the help of friends, he collected $1,309 in silver certificates mostly in $1 bills. And that is what he's taking to New York.

What will he do if he gets the silver bar, weighing approximately 75 pounds and measuring 11 1/2 inches long, 5 inches wide and 3 inches deep?

"Don't ask," Vesper said.

dren to test his theories about teaching.

The house, now a museum, was made a national shrine at a convocation marking the 157th anniversary of the founding of Miami.

"My wife will probably have me probated. But she's still happy because she's going along to New York and it'll mean a weekend of shows for her."

The exchange is scheduled to take place Monday morning at the U. S. Assay Office.

Millett believes Ohio's primary mission in research services is to assist the industries it already has. To do this, research centers have to build campus-by-campus and focused on the particular needs of the particular section of the state, he said.

"We're not turning our backs on the idea of regional centers," Millett said, "we've just learned more about the problem."

For example, he said, a research center at Toledo University focused on the problems of the glass industry is more practical than a joint Bowling Green-Toledo center trying to serve the same function. Expansion of the small agriculture research facilities at Bowling Green to meet the problems of rural Wood County would be more feasible, according to the chancellor.

A regional center in northeast Ohio, operated by Kent State University, the University of Akron and Cleveland State University, still might prove feasible because of the close proximity of the three schools, he said.

Industries Urged To Aid Schools

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Local industries should be adapted to the public school system for vocational training of young people, Carroll County School Supt. William Knisely suggests.

Knisely proposed that vocational instruction given by local industries in cooperation with public schools would be cheaper and better than establishment of separate vocational schools.

"We don't know what industry wants in the way of employees," he said in an interview, and vocational schools may find themselves offering training that cannot be utilized by existing industries in their areas.

This means, he said, graduates of such public vocational schools must either leave the area to find jobs or try to learn new skills to find employment in local industry.

He suggested that school districts, perhaps with state or federal support, could set up joint programs in which local industries would offer vocational classes for public school students. The students would continue to get academic training in regular high schools.

Armco Steel Plans Expansion in Texas

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Armco Steel Corp. says it plans a $25 million mill which will be the nucleus of an expansion and modernization program at its Houston, Tex., works.

Armco President William Verity said Thursday the present structural mill will be replaced by a wide-flange facility capable of turning out structural shapes 24 inches in depth. The target date for completion is 1968.

Verity also said Armco will increase production capacity for heat-treated plates by 100 per cent, for plate milling by 20 per cent and for iron smelting by 33 per cent.

County Aides under State Civil Service To Be Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Putting Ohio's county employees under state civil service procedures would cost thousands of dollars to start and possibly $200,000 a year to continue.

A suit filed in nearby Delaware by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association seeks, in effect, to force county governments to use the state civil service system in hiring and promoting employees.

The suit does not name State

Personnel Director Wayne Ward, but it is his office which would be affected most by any ruling that counties must use state civil service procedures.

"I am a very interested spectator," said Ward, who said it would take a lot of time and money just to classify various county jobs so civil service procedures could be followed.

Then it might cost $200,000 a year to administer the program for counties, he said.

Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of the Civil Service Employees Association who filed the Delaware suit, contends only one county, Hamilton, is following the state law.

All counties use state personnel procedures for employees in welfare departments and other agencies covered by federal regulations. Hamilton is the only county in which nearly all jobs are classified under a form of civil service.

It took Ward's department three months just to classify that county's jobs.

Doing the same job statewide would take even longer — and even then it wouldn't be possible to develop a truly uniform plan because state law allows elected county officials to set pay scales for their employees, Ward said.

"You could have a thousand different salary plans in the state," Ward said.

The law which Watkins says requires counties to use state civil service procedures has been on the books since 1913.

Ward said, but the personnel department's first job is to administer the program for state employees.

It moves into the county area

"as far as time and money permit," he said.

He estimated perhaps 15,000 to 20,000 county employees now are covered by merit procedures. Watkins estimates Ohio's 88 counties have 35,000 employees but Ward thinks the total is higher.

Ward said the personnel department "will do whatever is necessary" under any court ruling, but that a decision that counties must set state civil service procedures would force a request for a higher appropriation.

McGuffey's Home Named As Landmark

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The house in which William Holmes McGuffey compiled his famous Electric Readers was made a national historic landmark Thursday.

McGuffey wrote his readers when he was a young Miami University professor in the 1830s. They were credited with having "shaped the minds and the morals of several generations of young Americans."

The two-story frame house on the Miami campus was built by McGuffey and he used it as a center for conducting reading classes for neighborhood chil-

Cincy Attorney To Test Federal Silver Situation

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati attorney, Lee J. Vesper, left for New York today to see if the United States government will keep its promise to pay silver "to the bearer on demand." He hopes to return with a 1,000-ounce bar of pure silver.

His purpose, he says, is "to have the pleasure of saying to the government, 'you think you can make rules so tough that nobody can take advantage of them. Well, I did!'"

It all started, he said, when silver dollars were beginning to get scarce. A businessman-client of his wanted 100 silver dollars to give away to his customers on keychains.

None could be found in local banks.

So, Vesper wrote to the Treasury Department in Washington and the reply was: No silver dollars available.

He wrote back, telling the government that silver certificates promise that Uncle Sam will exchange the bills for silver if the bearer demands it.

The Treasury Department replied this time: If you want silver you have to go to either New York or San Francisco to get it, and you have to take it in 1,000-ounce lots. Nothing less.

"People told me I couldn't do it," Vesper said. "So I thought, 'I wonder if I can?'"

He began saving bills designated as silver certificates. With the help of friends, he collected $1,309 in silver certificates mostly in $1 bills. And that is what he's taking to New York.

What will he do if he gets the silver bar, weighing approximately 75 pounds and measuring 11½ inches long, 5 inches wide and 3 inches deep?

"Don't ask," Vesper said.

dren to test his theories about teaching.

The house, now a museum, was made a national shrine at a convocation marking the 157th anniversary of the founding of Miami.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "The Baha'i World Faith is a new, independent, universal religion, whose goal is to revitalize mankind spiritually, to break down barriers between peoples and to lay the foundations for a unified world society based upon principles of justice and love.

"The major problems of our age are brought about by the barriers which separate men. These conflicts consume energies which could otherwise be diverted to such enemies as ignorance, hunger, disease.

"A lasting solution can be found only in a new spiritual approach which will reconcile religions, be consistent with science, and offer a set of values which all can accept. The Baha'i Faith presents a challenging set of teachings to meet this need."

A Great Leader Still Leads

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It has been said that a man is tallest when he is on his knees. The familiar picture of George Washington kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge reminds us that the "Father of our Country" was a man who walked close to God and who taught his soldiers to pray.

Washington recognized that human frailty is not a sign of weakness — that it is the first step toward finding the needed strength. To call upon God for the resources we lack is to supply our deepest want.

The example of our first President still points men to God. Just as George Washington found God's strength available, so do men in our time when they call upon Him in faith. Discover Him in your own life. Worship God in your church next Sunday.

A Great Leader Still Leads

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It has been said that a man is tallest when he is on his knees. The familiar picture of George Washington kneeling in prayer at Valley Forge reminds us that the "Father of our Country" was a man who walked close to God and who taught his soldiers to pray.

Washington recognized that human frailty is not a sign of weakness — that it is the first step toward finding the needed strength. To call upon God for the resources we lack is to supply our deepest want.

The example of our first President still points men to God. Just as George Washington found God's strength available, so do men in our time when they call upon Him in faith. Discover Him in your own life. Worship God in your church next Sunday.

Man Is a Sinner

CHRIST SAVES MEN FROM THE POWER AND CONSEQUENCES OF SIN

Scripture—Genesis 3:1-13, 22-24; Mark 7:14-23; Romans 1:18-2:11; 1 John 1:5-10.

By R. H. RAMSEY

IN the beginning, man and woman were created perfect, to live in a perfect environment and enjoy a perfect fellowship with God. The only restriction laid upon them was that they were forbidden, under penalty of death (Genesis 2:17), to eat of the Tree of Knowledge. When they disobeyed, God expelled them from the garden and denied them access to the Tree of Life, the eating of whose fruit would have made them divinely immortal.

There are those who believe a vengeful God has doomed unborn generations for this "original sin." We do not agree, for it is incompatible with the New Testament characterization of God as a loving Father and the doctrine that the shedding of Christ's blood was propitiation for all of man's sins. Further, this "original sin" only revealed the flaw in man's character that made it necessary for God to provide him with a means of salvation in order to fulfill his eternal destiny.

sin. But God has not abandoned us to perish in sin, for His love is greater than His wrath, and His mercy greater than His severity. This does not mean that God overlooks sin. He does not. He is adamant against it and angered by our determination to persist in sin. But He is not angered against us even though we are the sinners.

Instead He has sent His only Son to show men the way to Him and to deliver them from wickedness; forgiving the sins of those who seek forgiveness in a spirit of true repentance.

It is only when men disregard God, disavow Him, spurn His offer of mercy, and turn away, that He becomes the vengeful Being who neither slumbers nor sleeps—as some men have believed through the ages—and His wrath becomes a terrifying reality.

Certainly God can be severe when the occasion demands it, but His nature is committed to man's redemption. He is merciful, loving, willing and anxious Man is, by nature, a sinner. But this does not necessarily mean that each of us is lying, stealing, committing adultery or planning to injure his fellows, for sin is not just this act or that. Sin is not so much a matter of what we do or say as it is of what we are. Sin is any corruption of man's inner nature that causes him to disobey God and fall short of what He would have us do or be.

We are all sinners in that our lives are full of weaknesses, that we often stumble and fall. Left to our own devices, we would all sink and perish under the weight of temptation and sin.

Sin is not so much a matter of what we do or say as it is of what we are. Sin is any corruption of man's inner nature that causes him to disobey God and fall short of what He would have us do or be.

Goodness and evil are both a matter of the inner condition of the heart, a fact recognized by the writer of the Book of Proverbs who urged men to "keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life" (Proverbs 4:23); and stressed by our Lord in his discussion with religious leaders recorded in Mark and also, more briefly, in Matthew 15:17-20.

We are all sinners in that our lives are full of weaknesses, that we often stumble and fall. Left to our own devices, we would all sink and perish under the weight of temptation and to forgive our sins and to lift us out of the power of unrighteousness. Against the powers which would pull us down God sets His own infinite love and power to raise us up with the offer of forgiveness, redemption and salvation through Jesus Christ.

To live in sin is to live in darkness. Through Christ God offers us fellowship with Him. We are commanded to walk in the light, as He is in the light, have fellowship one with another—love one another as God in Christ has loved us—and the blood of Christ will cleanse us of sin.

This cleansing is a matter of the inner man and our relationship to God. When we earnestly and truly repent and confess our sins to Him, asking His help in forsaking them, God faithfully forgives us. The sin is put away, our fellowship with God is restored, and our hearts are cleansed. God extends His loving hand to raise us up and start us off again along life's pathway.

Girls' Phys Ed

By BARR GRIFFITH

A long time ago, girls' physical education was placed in the same category as "recess". Not so any longer! To get an "A" in phys ed this six weeks, each girl must read seven specific articles on sports and write a brief summary of them, know basketball rules, attend one game or watch a game on television, and keep an accurate record of all fouls committed by both teams, do her best in class participation, remember gym clothes each week, take showers, and work hard!

Girls are now signing up for basketball intramurals which should start sometime next week.

CHS Junior Named to Science Panel

By SUSAN THOMPSON

Mary Anne Yates, a junior at CHS, attended the third Annual Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at the Youth Center on the Ohio State Fair Grounds, last weekend. Along with 250 other students and teachers, Mary Anne toured places of scientific interest.

Dr. Richard A. Popham, head of the botany department at OSU and President of the Ohio Academy of Science, addressed the opening session. After this very informative meeting, a square dance and social hour was held.

On Saturday, Dr. John Mack from Bell Laboratories and Dr. Irwin Oster, biology professor at Bowling Green University, addressed the student body. Papers were presented by outstanding science students, and special sessions on technical writing and further education in science and engineering were held. Rev. H. Park Tucker, chaplain at the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., gave an inspiring presentation on "The Making of a Man."

Election of student board members, voting for those students who will represent Ohio at the National Symposium at Princeton, and closing remarks summed up Sunday's session.

Mary Anne was elected to the 12-member student board as a delegate from the central districts in the state of Ohio.

The symposium was sponsored by the Ohio Academy of Science, U. S. Army, Harshaw Chemical Co., North American Aviation, Owens-Illinois Co., and Owens - Corning Fiberglass.

Sports Briefs

By SAM STANLEY

Circleville's junior guard, Tim Stonerock, was in the spotlight last weekend as he connected for 34 points at WCH and 23 against Pleasant View. Tim's strong effort at WCH wound up dragging Circleville out of a five point disadvantage at halftime to a five point advantage at the final gun. The final score was 68-63.

Saturday night went down as a loss for the Tigers against Pleasant View, but Circleville had good scoring figures from all the starters. Tim Stonerock was helped out by Dan Speakman with 14, Jim Diltz for 11, Joe Winner scored nine, and Don Gibbs netted four.

Speaking of Tim Stonerock, during the first minute of the second half at WCH, he scored seven points by himself, before the Blue Lions could set up. And just think, sports fans, this boy is still just a junior.

Now that our regular season is over, we must move on into the district playoffs. Circleville plays on March 2, at 9 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Tigers take on Whetstone. They are a member of the Columbus City League. Their league record is 1-14 for the year. The winner of this game takes on the winner of the Reynoldsburg-Hartley game on Saturday, Mar. 5. The seeded teams in this bracket are Linden and Hartley. Linden was seeded first Hartley was eighth. Future dates and places will be announced as the Tigers advance through the ranks on their way to State.

Behind Scenes Of Cafeteria

By SUSAN THOMPSON
NANCY WALISA,
LINDA RHYMER

One day this week three journalism reporters stopped by the CHS cafeteria where five cooks were hard at work preparing a meal for approximately 615 students, which is the daily average. By observing and asking questions we would like to report to you what we learned.

It takes 50 pounds of flour, 5 pounds of butter, 35 pounds of sugar to make the delicious cobbler that we all enjoy. The cafeteria serves 80 cups of coffee to staff members, while about 750 bottles of milk are consumed by students. It is not uncommon to see 15 dozen eggs used in one recipe; 14 pans of apple cobbler; 650 pieces of sliced cheese; and 12 pounds of butter in the cafeteria kitchen.

Approximately 30 students work in the cafeteria. This includes cashiers, and "disher-upperers". The cooks pointed out that without this valuable help, it would be virtually impossible to keep things going smoothly.

Which day is the busiest for them? Usually the days they serve fried chicken, although, it is according to the menu.

Such foods as sloppy Joes, spaghetti, fish, hamburgers, and cherry cobbler are always popular with the students.

It was learned the cooks' worst gripe, which is understandable, is a wrong lunch count. They average 40 to 50 more per day than counted. There was one particular day when 104 more turned up in the lunch line than the number turned in to the cooks!

When asked to recall a particularly funny event, their unanimous reply was, "the day we had a fire drill during lunch hour." They said that when everyone came back into the cafeteria from the drill, it was a big mix-up as to who was eating where.

If you have any favorite foods that have not been served this year, the cooks expressed their desire to hear any suggestions.

Those five hard-working women who slave in our cafeteria kitchen every day are Mrs. Gladden Troutman, head cook; Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. Chester Starkey, Mrs. Monroe White and Mrs. Charles Allison.

One thing the cooks all agreed on and wanted clearly expressed was — "We really enjoy ourselves, we have a lot of fun, and we're all happy."

Four OU Student Teachers Are Here This Semester

MIKE BUSCEMI

KENT MARTIN

JAMES PATTERSON

MISS NORMA NOECKER

Earlier this month, four student teachers walked into CHS from Ohio University.

They are Mike Buscemi, Kent Martin, James Patterson, and Miss Norma Noecker. These four college students came here to gain experience in their respective courses of study. They will be at CHS for the remainder of this semester.

Mike Buscemi is doing his student teaching with Fred Geoglein in American History. He is a senior at Ohio University. Mr. Buscemi resides at 211 E. Main St. in West Jefferson with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Buscemi.

He is working toward his BS degree in Secondary Education with a major in social studies.

Mr. Buscemi graduated from West Jefferson High School in 1962. While in high school he was the president of the Varsity Monogram Club, the Student Council and the Junior Class. He was also a delegate to Boys State. He played on the varsity football and basketball teams. His special interest consists of sports and reading. His likes are sports cars, steak and more sports cars. His one dislike is getting up early.

When asked his first impression of CHS he replied, "I like it. It is a very well run and efficient school."

Kent Martin is staying at 207 E. Main St. while he is a student teacher at CHS. Mr. Martin is originally from Xenia, where he resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin at 507 Northwest St.

Mr. Martin's special interests in high school were Key Club and Hi-Y. His special interest now is looking forward as a student teacher. He has been studying to be a teacher for 3 years.

His first opinion of CHS was, "the people are friendly and they made me feel welcome."

His many likes include sports, girls, water skiing, skiing, teaching, college, spaghetti and pizza. He doesn't have many dislikes, but he has a few which include exams, grading papers, people who "put on an act" and "liver".

He is majoring in social studies and he attends OU college. He is enlisting in the Navy in July.

Why he chose teaching as a career: "I like people and I meet many people in teaching and teaching presents a challenge."

Helping Mrs. Wachs with sophomore English this semester is James Patterson. He resides at 2230 Cambridge Place, Upper Arlington with his parents.

Mr. Patterson is working for his BS Degree in Education at Ohio University. His major is English and his minor is physical education. He is a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity and advertising and business man.

ager of the newspaper. He attends the First Community Church.

Among Mr. Patterson's likes are sports, swimming, the theatre, and coaching divers at Upper Arlington. His only dislike is a student who does not try.

Mr. Patterson's first opinion of CHS is that the set-up of the curriculum is great and for a school this size he thinks we have a good vocational education department. His main reason for choosing teaching as a career was that he felt successful in teaching swimming and his interest in helping others carried over into college.

Miss Norma Noecker is attending Ohio University and is majoring in science comprehensive. She is working for her BS degree in education. She graduated from Walnut Twp. High School.

Miss Noecker's likes and dislikes are many including sewing, knitting, sports, music and flower arranging. Her dislikes include noisy alarm clocks in the early morning.

Miss Noecker entered the teaching profession because of her like for people and her interest in science.

What is her impression of CHS? She likes the way the faculty and students work together for the betterment of the school.

13 CHS Girls In Karate Class

By KAREN HOSLER

There are 13 CHS members in the newly formed female Karate Class.

They are Wanda Fyffe, Cindy Hang, Joyce Valentine, Lynn Kifer, Cindy Miller, Sandy Kuhn, Karen Lane, Lou Tolliver, Sandy Tracey, Betty McManes, Ann Yates, Lois Archer and Carolyn Noel.

These brave souls meet for lessons every Monday night from 7 till 9. These lessons are begun with various exercises such as knee bends, push-ups, and knee rotations. After exercises the girls work on their forms. At 8 p. m. there's a well-earned ten minute rest.

After the break they begin the kumitate (fighting). Then more exercises.

The girls taking Karate seem to have a high opinion of their teacher, Richard Greenlee.

Wanda Fyffe, one of the students, says that every girl should take the lessons.

One word of warning: Watch out for these girls in the halls!

Home Economic 2 classes are decorating their bedrooms. Each girl is making a project for her room. Next week class members will take a field trip to Wardell's Carpet and Rug Company.

One Act Play Stagings Set

By DANA BASS

The Curtain Callers will present their annual performance of one-act plays on Saturday evening, Feb. 26 at 8 p. m. in the CHS auditorium.

This year the club will present a program varying from tragedy to comedy.

Act one will spotlight the recognition scene from "Anastasia" which will star Lynn Rickety and Donna Stephens, directed by Ellisa Evans. This touching scene is a favorite for state drama contests.

Then, the club will perform Eugene O'Neill's classic one-act tragedy, "Ile". This highly emotional play will feature Glenn Plum, Linda Bowers, Rickey Compton, Bruce Breele, Richard Thomas, and Chuck Plum, directed by Mary Anne Yates.

Spotlighting act two will be a comedy, M. G. Elsey's hilarious sketch, "Fortune Is A Cow-boy", will star Cheryl Burton and Marcia Brehmer and will be directed by Leann Gross. Finally, one of the most uproarious plays ever written, Anton Chekov's "The Marriage Proposal", starring Anne Spicer, Branson Hawkes, and Terry Hull, directed by Dana Bass.

Last Saturday CHS received two first place trophies and two second places at the speech contest in Chillicothe. All four contestants will go on to state competition in April or May.

Ann Spicer received a first place trophy in humorous declamation. Her entry was "Auntie Mame". Donna Stephens received the other first place trophy in the Prince of Peace Contest in Oratorical Declamation. She did "The Pica Eternal".

Glenn Plum chose "Are Negroes Rushing too Hard for Civil Rights?" for his topic in Boys' Extemporaneous. He received a second place for his entry. CHS's other second place winner was Elisa Evans. She entered Dramatic Declamation with a cutting from "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder.

Young, secretary; and Don Davis, vice president.

Ralph Starkey, Ronald Hines and Dean Smallwood gained SCO team positions at tackle, guard and end respectively, while Nelson Cupp received honorable mention as a guard.

Don Davis was president of the Sketch Club, with Jane Simmons as secretary-treasurer.

The three seniors receiving basketball awards this year were Jack Young, Ralph Starkey and Tom Eveland.

CHS Junior Named to Science Panel

By SUSAN THOMPSON

Mary Anne Yates, a junior at CHS, attended the third Annual Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at the Youth Center on the Ohio State Fair Grounds, last weekend. Along with 250 other students and teachers, Mary Anne toured places of scientific interest.

Dr. Richard A. Popham, head of the botany department at OSU and President of the Ohio Academy of Science, addressed the opening session. After this very informative meeting, a square dance and social hour was held.

On Saturday, Dr. John Mack from Bell Laboratories and Dr. Irwin Oster, biology professor at Bowling Green University, addressed the student body. Papers were presented by outstanding science students, and special sessions on technical writing and further education in science and engineering were held. Rev. H. Park Tucker, chaplain at the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., gave an inspiring presentation on "The Making of a Man."

Election of student board members, voting for those students who will represent Ohio at the National Symposium at Princeton, and closing remarks summed up Sunday's session.

Mary Anne was elected to the 12-member student board as a delegate from the central districts in the state of Ohio.

The symposium was sponsored by the Ohio Academy of Science, U. S. Army, Harshaw Chemical Co., North American Aviation, Owens-Illinois Co. and Owens-Corning Fibers, Inc.

Circleville's junior guard, Tim Stonerock, was in the spotlight last weekend as he connected for 34 points at WCH and 23 against Pleasant View. Tim's strong effort at WCH wound up dragging Circleville out of a five point disadvantage at halftime to a five point advantage at the final gun. The final score was 68-63.

Saturday night went down as a loss for the Tigers against Pleasant View, but Circleville had good scoring figures from all the starters. Tim Stonerock was helped out by Dan Speakman with 14, Jim Diltz for 11, Joe Winner scored nine, and Dan Gibbs netted four.

Speaking of Tim Stonerock, during the first minute of the second half at WCH, he scored seven points by himself, before the Blue Lions could set up. And just think, sports fans, this boy is still just a junior.

Now that our regular season is over, we must move on into the district playoffs. Circleville plays on March 2, at 9 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Tigers take on Wheatstone. They are a member of the Columbus City League. Their league record is 1-14 for the year. The winner of this game takes on the winner of the Reynoldsburg/Hartley game on Saturday, Mar. 5. The seeded teams in this bracket are Linden and Hartley. Linden was seeded first. Hartley was eighth. Future dates and places will be announced as the Tigers advance through the ranks on their way to State.

CHS Calendar

Feb. 18 — Home basketball game with Miami Trace.
Feb. 19 — Home basketball game with Teays Valley — last game of season.
Feb. 19 — American College Test.
Feb. 19 — Closing date for Mar. 5, Scholastic Aptitude Test.
Feb. 25 — 9:15 — Representative from Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., will talk to college-bound juniors and seniors.

Behind Scenes Of Cafeteria

By SUSAN THOMPSON
NANCY WALISA,
LINDA RHYMER

One day this week three journalism reporters stopped by the CHS cafeteria where five cooks were hard at work preparing a meal for approximately 615 students, which is the daily average. By observing and asking questions we would like to report to you what we learned.

It takes 50 pounds of flour, 5 pounds of butter, 35 pounds of sugar to make the delicious cobbler that we all enjoy. The cafeteria serves 60 cups of coffee to staff members, while about 750 bottles of milk are consumed by students. It is not uncommon to see 15 dozen eggs used in one recipe: 14 pans of apple cobbler; 650 pieces of sliced cheese; and 12 pounds of butter in the cafeteria kitchen.

Approximately 30 students work in the cafeteria. This includes cashiers, and "disher-uppers". The cooks pointed out that without this valuable help, it would be virtually impossible to keep things going smoothly.

Which day is the busiest for them? Usually the days they serve fried chicken, although, it is according to the menu.

Such foods as sloppy Joes, spaghetti, fish, hamburgers, and cherry cobbler are always popular with the students.

It was learned the cooks' worst gripe, which is understandable, is a wrong lunch count. They average 40 to 50 more per day than counted. There was one particular day when 104 more turned up in the lunch line than the number turned in to the cooks!

When asked to recall a particularly funny event, their unanimous reply was, "the day we had a fire drill during lunch hour." They said that when everyone came back into the cafeteria from the drill, it was a big mix-up as to who was eating where.

If you have any favorite foods that have not been served this year, the cooks expressed their desire to hear any suggestions.

Those five hard-working women who slave in our cafeteria kitchen every day are Mrs. Gladden Troutman, head cook; Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. Chester Starkey, Mrs. Monroe White and Mrs. Charles Allison.

One thing the cooks all agreed on and wanted clearly expressed was — "We really enjoy ourselves, we have a lot of fun, and we're all happy."

Our congratulations go to the faculty members who won the game played against the WCHL jockeys.

Eye tests were given to eighth-graders and sophomores Wednesday and Thursday by courtesy of the Lion's Club.

Senior class meeting was held Thursday to choose a minister to speak at baccalaureate and graduation services and to decide on the senior class memorial.

Tonight the Tigers meet with Miami Trace in cage action. Tomorrow evening the Teays Valley Vikings are the competitors. Both games are being played in the CHS gym.

Last Saturday Dana Bass, Roger Grigg, Steve McGinnis and Mike Hulse attended a regional meeting of the Key Club held at Grove City HS.

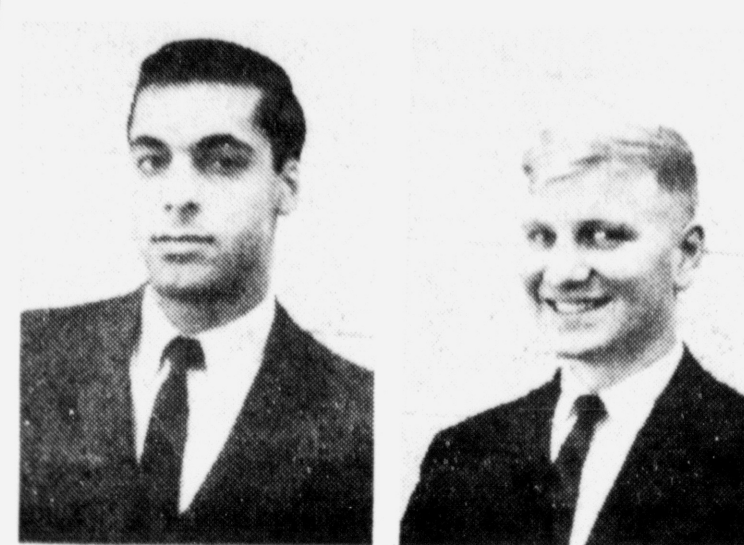

There will be a "Batman Bash" record hop and show Saturday from 10-12 p. m. after the game in CHS gym.

Pat McFarland, Melissa Wiloughby, and Karen Hosler were in charge of the Red and Black this week.

Four OU Student Teachers Are Here This Semester

KENT MARTIN

JAMES PATTERSON

MISS NORMA NOECKER

Earlier this month, four student teachers walked into CHS from Ohio University.

They are Mike Buscemi, Kent Martin, James Patterson, and Miss Norma Noecker. These four college students came here to gain experience in their respective courses of study. They will be at CHS for the remainder of this semester.

Mike Buscemi is doing his student teaching with Fred Geoghegan in American History. He is a senior at Ohio University. Mr. Buscemi resides at 211 E. Main St. in West Jefferson with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Buscemi.

He is working toward his BS degree in Secondary Education with a major in social studies.

Mr. Buscemi graduated from West Jefferson High School in 1962. While in high school he was the president of the Varsity Monogram Club, the Student Council and the Junior Class. He was also a delegate to Boys State. He played on the varsity football and basketball teams. His special interest consists of sports cars, steak and more sports cars. His one dislike is getting up early.

When asked his first impression of CHS he replied, "I like it. It is a very well run and efficient school."

Kent Martin is staying at 207 E. Main St. while he is a student teacher at CHS. Mr. Martin is originally from Xenia, where he resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin at 507 Northwest St.

Mr. Martin's special interests in high school were Key Club and Hi-Y. His special interest now is looking forward as a student teacher. He has been studying to be a teacher for 3 years.

His first opinion of CHS was, "the people are friendly and they made me feel welcome."

His many likes include sports, girls, water skiing, skiing, teaching college, spaghetti and pizza. He doesn't have many dislikes, but he has a few which include exams, grading papers, people who "put on an act" and "liver".

He is majoring in social studies and he attends OU college. He is enlisting in the Navy in July.

Why he chose teaching as a career: "I like people and I meet many people in teaching and teaching presents a challenge."

Helping Mrs. Wachs with sophomore English this semester is James Patterson. He resides at 2230 Cambridge Place, Upper Arlington with his parents.

Mr. Patterson is working for his BS Degree in Education at Ohio University. His major is English and his minor is physical education. He is a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity and advertising and business man.

ager of the newspaper. He attends the First Community Church.

Among Mr. Patterson's likes are sports, swimming, the theatre, and coaching divers at Upper Arlington. His only dislike is a student who does not try.

Mr. Patterson's first opinion of CHS is that the set-up of the curriculum is great and for a school this size he thinks we have a good vocational education department. His main reason for choosing teaching as a career was that he felt successful in teaching swimming and his interest in helping others carried over into college.

Miss Norma Noecker is attending Ohio University and is majoring in science comprehensive. She is working for her BS degree in education. She graduated from Walnut Twp. High School.

Miss Noecker's likes and dislikes are many including sewing, knitting, sports, music and flower arranging. Her dislikes include noisy alarm clocks in the early morning.

Miss Noecker entered the teaching profession because of her like for people and her interest in science.

What is her impression of CHS? She likes the way the faculty and students work together for the betterment of the school.

13 CHS Girls In Karate Class

By KAREN HOSLER

There are 13 CHS members in the newly formed female Karate Class.

They are Wanda Fyffe, Cindy Hang, Joyce Valentine, Lynn Kifer, Cindy Miller, Sandy Kuhn, Karen Lane, Lou Tolliver, Sandy Tracey, Betty McManes, Ann Yates, Lois Archer and Carolyn Noel.

These brave souls meet for lessons every Monday night from 7 till 9. These lessons are begun with various exercises such as knee bends, push-ups, and knee rotations. After exercises the girls work on their forms. At 8 p. m. there's a well-earned ten minute rest.

After the break they begin the kumitate (fighting). Then more exercises.

The girls taking Karate seem to have a high opinion of their teacher, Richard Greenlee.

Wanda Fyffe, one of the students, says that every girl should take the lessons.

One word of warning: Watch out for these girls in the halls!

Home Economic 2 classes are decorating their bedrooms. Each girl is making a project for her room. Next week class members will take a field trip to Wardell's Carpet and Rug Company.

One Act Play Stagings Set

By DANA BASS

The Curtain Callers will present their annual performance of one-act plays on Saturday evening, Feb. 26 at 8 p. m. in the CHS auditorium.

This year the club will present a program varying from tragedy to comedy.

Act one will spotlight the recognition scene from "Anastasia" which will star Lynn Rickney and Donna Stephens, directed by Elisa Evans. This touching scene is a favorite for state drama contests.

Then, the club will perform Eugene O'Neill's classic one-act tragedy, "Ile". This highly emotional play will feature Glenn Plum, Linda Bowers, Rickey Compton, Bruce Breegle, Richard Thomas, and Chuck Plum, directed by Mary Anne Yates.

Spotlighting act two will be a comedy, M. G. Elsey's hilarious sketch, "Fortune Is A Cowboy", will star Cheryl Burton and Marcia Brehmer and will be directed by Leann Gross. Finally, one of the most uproarious plays ever written, Anton Chekov's "The Marriage Proposal", starring Anne Spicer, Branson Hawkes, and Terry Hull, directed by Dana Bass.

Rhode Island Scores Upset Of Providence

39-Game Home Win Streak of Friars Shattered

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ernie Calverley and Rhode Island are back in the headlines in college basketball today.

Back in 1946 Calverley scored a historic 55-foot field goal in the last two seconds to save Rhode Island from defeat against Bowling Green in the NIT quarter-finals. Calverley went on to win the tournament's Most Valuable Player award although Rhode Island lost to Kentucky by one point in the final.

Now coach at his alma mater, Calverley saw his Rhodes score a decisive 84-61 upset road victory over the nationally ranked Providence Friars Thursday night. It shattered Providence's 39-game home winning streak.

Art Stephenson, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from New York City led the assault with 29 points for the Yankee Conference leaders against the Friars, No. 6 in The Associated Press poll this week. Jimmy Walker, Providence star, fouled out as the Friars lost only their third game in 20 starts. Rhode Island now is 16-5 over-all.

The Denver Pioneers, playing at home, came through with the night's other upset. They snapped Oklahoma City's 10-game winning streak 84-83 aided by Rick Callahan's free throw on a technical foul called on Abe Lemons, the Oklahoma City coach, in the last 27 seconds. It was the Chiefs' fourth defeat against 20 victories.

Houston's Cougars extended their winning streak to 13 with a 111-96 home-court triumph over Miami of Florida behind the combined 64 points of Joe Hamood and Elvin Hayes. Hamood, 5-11, bot 33 and Hayes, 6-8, got 31.

Dave Bing's 31 points paced Syracuse to its seventh straight, an 83-73 road conquest of Pitt. Cincinnati tightened its hold on first place in the Missouri Valley Conference by whipping North Texas 88-63 and Wichita took over second place by drubbing Bradley 98-79.

Louisville defeated Tulsa 64-50 and Drake downed St. Louis 75-59 in other Missouri Valley games. All the MVC home teams won.

Manhattan beat Georgetown, D.C., 83-80 and NYU walloped Notre Dame 102-78 in a double-header at New York's Madison Square Garden. Baltimore Loyola went two overtimes to beat Seton Hall 73-71 and Mt. St. Mary's crushed American U. 92-71 in another twin bill at the Civic Center in Baltimore.

In other results, Utah State downed Seattle 84-74, Georgia Tech beat Tulane 99-85, Richmond took East Carolina 100-88 and William and Mary whipped St. Francis of Pennsylvania 67-52. All were home-court victories.

Packers Now Looking For Third String QB

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Wanted: young quarterback to serve as apprentice for Bart Starr and Zeke Bratowski. Great chance for advancement if willing to sit and wait. Must like winter sports. Best fringe benefits.

Vince Lombardi, coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers is on the prowl for a young passer to take the place of Dennis Claidridge, who apparently grew tired of waiting on the Packer bench.

Lombardi took a chance on Claidridge in the Atlanta expansion draft and lost the former Nebraska star to the Falcons in the stocking program.

Cynical observers think Lombardi, who drives a hard bargain, had a deal set up or in the making when he put Claidridge on the list. Others say the young man wanted a chance to try his wings.

This is the way Lombardi explained the situation Thursday as the National Football League meetings ended:

"Look at it this way. We won last year and we think we have a chance to win it again. That means Bart and Zeke will do most of the playing. Claidridge would have had a third year sitting on the bench.

"I would like to get another young boy to bring along. I've got something to offer and some of the clubs may need what I have. I would like to have a third quarterback and I'll have one."

Lombardi said he had no intention of trading Paul Hornung or Jim Taylor, his regular running backs, before training camp opened. He has Tom Moore and Elijah Pitts, two additional veteran running backs, plus his highly touted rookies, Don Anderson of Texas Tech and Jim Grabowski of Illinois.

The league meetings ended officially Thursday but the main business was transacted Wednesday when the Atlanta club was stocked with 42 experienced players.

Clay-Terrell Fight Seen Despite Draft

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Chances are the heavyweight title fight between Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell will be staged on March 29 as scheduled, despite Clay's 1-A draft classification.

"I don't think he would be included in the March call if he appealed," said Miss Winifred K. Phillips, chief clerk for Jefferson County's 10 draft boards.

Clay, in Miami training for the fight, said he will appeal the classification assigned him Thursday by Local Board 47. "I don't know just how I'll appeal. I don't know anything about the law. I just know I will."

Miss Phillips said the quota was expected today, and that Clay's name won't be placed on the list of eligibles until 10 days after his re-classification.

"His isn't a special case," she said. "He has the same rights, privileges, and obligations as all other young men. And they all have 10 days to appeal a classification."

After the re-classification, however, Edward W. Jacko Jr., who identified himself as Clay's personal attorney and who testified for 40 minutes before the board, said grounds for an appeal hadn't been determined.

Miss Phillips said she doubts if the champion would be included in the March call, even if the appeal were denied. She said the quota must be filled within 10 days.

Texan Holds Stroke Lead At Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Coody carried a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the $60,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament, but no less than 20 other par-busters were within three strokes of the 28-year-old Texan.

Coody recovered from a first-hole bogey Thursday to fire a five-under-par 67 and capture the first-day lead. Applying the most pressure were Dick Lotz and Mason Rudolph, who had 68s.

Doug Sanders, Larry Griggs, Joe Campbell, George Archer, Jay Dolan, Gardner Dickinson Jr., and Bob Johnson were tied two strokes back at 69.

Sanders and Dickinson have been among the pro tour's hottest players of late. Sanders won the recent Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic at Palm Springs, Calif., and Dickinson finished second in the Phoenix Open Monday after leading for three rounds.

Grouped three strokes back at 70 after the first round were Randy Glover, Rocky Thompson, Dick Mayer, Julius Boros, Fred Partt, John Lotz, Steve Opperman, Billy Martindale, Johnny Pott and Steve Spray.

3 Ohio Teams Seen in NCAA

Miami, Dayton, UofC May Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If three's a crowd, the NCAA tournament next month for major college basketball teams could be crowded with southwestern Ohio cagers.

Cincinnati swamped hapless North Texas State 88-63 Thursday night and now looks at least as good a bet as neighbors Miami and Dayton to make the regionals.

The Bearcats, who would go to the Midwest Regional while the others head for the Mideast—if they don't wind up in New York's National Invitation Tournament instead—took the firmest grip any team has yet had on the Missouri Valley Conference lead.

They are now 8-3 in the circuit and play two of their remaining MVC games at home. The only major problem would seem to be Wichita (6-4), which catches the Bearcats there on Washington's Birthday.

Miami, 16-4, which looked like a Mid-American Conference shoo-in but now is threatened for MAC laurels by Toledo, plays independent Dayton, 18-4, at Oxford Saturday while Cincinnati, 18-4, entertains MVC rival Tulsa.

Cincinnati prevailed handily over North Texas, dealing the Eagles their 15th successive loss.

Ohio U. had a rough time against Muskingum at New Concord before running away to a 70-59 victory after a 19-19 half-time tie. Dave Brown's 19 points paced the Bobcats while Jim Battle and John Ryan got 18 apiece for the Muskies.

Youngstown shot ahead 11-0 and the Penguins, No. 6 in the AP small college ratings, had it easy behind Joe Lavolpa's 20 tallies and Dave Culiver's 19 in whipping Alliance, Pa. 65-51. Kenyon rallied from a 42-29

Texan Holds Stroke Lead At Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Coody carried a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the $60,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament, but no less than 20 other par-busters were within three strokes of the 28-year-old Texan.

Coody recovered from a first-hole bogey Thursday to fire a five-under-par 67 and capture the first-day lead. Applying the most pressure were Dick Lotz and Mason Rudolph, who had 68s.

Doug Sanders, Larry Griggs, Joe Campbell, George Archer, Jay Doan, Gardner Dickinson Jr., and Bob Johnson were tied two strokes back at 69.

Sanders and Dickinson have been among the pro tour's hottest players of late. Sanders won the recent Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic at Palm Springs, Calif., and Dickinson finished second in the Phoenix Open Monday after leading for three rounds.

Grouped three strokes back at 70 after the first round were Randy Glover, Rocky Thompson, Dick Mayer, Julius Boros, Fred Partt, John Lotz, Steve Opperman, Billy Martindale, Johnny Pott and Steve Spray.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE DOME—And the "new" is bull-fighting, bloodless kind, in Houston's domed stadium. Here is how the bullring looked for the three presentations there.

3 Ohio Teams Seen in NCAA

Miami, Dayton, UofC May Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If three's a crowd, the NCAA tournament next month for major college basketball teams could be crowded with southwestern Ohio eagers.

Cincinnati swamped hapless North Texas State 88-63 Thursday night and now looks at least as good a bet as neighbors Miami and Dayton to make the regionals.

The Bearcats, who would go to the Midwest Regional while the others head for the Mideast—if they don't wind up in New York's National Invitation Tournament instead—took the firmest grip any team has yet had on the Missouri Valley Conference lead.

They are now 8-3 in the circuit and play two of their remaining MVC games at home. The only major problem would seem to be Wichita (6-4), which catches the Bearcats there on Washington's Birthday.

Miami, 16-4, which looked like a Mid-American Conference shoo-in but now is threatened for MAC laurels by Toledo, plays independent Dayton, 18-4, at Oxford Saturday while Cincinnati, 18-4, entertains MVC rival Tulsa.

Cincinnati prevailed handily over North Texas, dealing the Eagles their 15th successive loss.

Ohio U. had a rough time against Muskingum at New Concord before running away to a 70-59 victory after a 19-19 half-time tie. Dave Brown's 19 points paced the Bobcats while Jim Battle and John Ruyan got 18 apiece for the Muskies.

Youngstown shot ahead 11-0 and the Penguins, No. 6 in the AP small college ratings, had it easy behind Joe Lavolpa's 20 tallies and Dave Culiver's 19 in whipping Alliance, Pa. 65-51. Kenyon rallied from a 42-29

Westfall Maps Plans for Smorgasbord

Plans for a smorgasbord dinner to be served Mar. 6 in the Westfall High School cafeteria were completed during a meeting of the Westfall Booster Club directors.

The serving will be from 11:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Tom Finch has been appointed to serve on the committee with Mrs. George Neff, chairman; Mrs. George Hamman III, Mrs. Troy McPherson, Mrs. Harry Morris and Mrs. Milton Renick.

In other action taken by the directors, George Mowery, Lloyd Minor and Norwin O'Connor were appointed to investigate bleacher plans offered to the club for construction of bleachers for the football field.

Members voted to hold card parties during June, July and August at Jackson Twp. School.

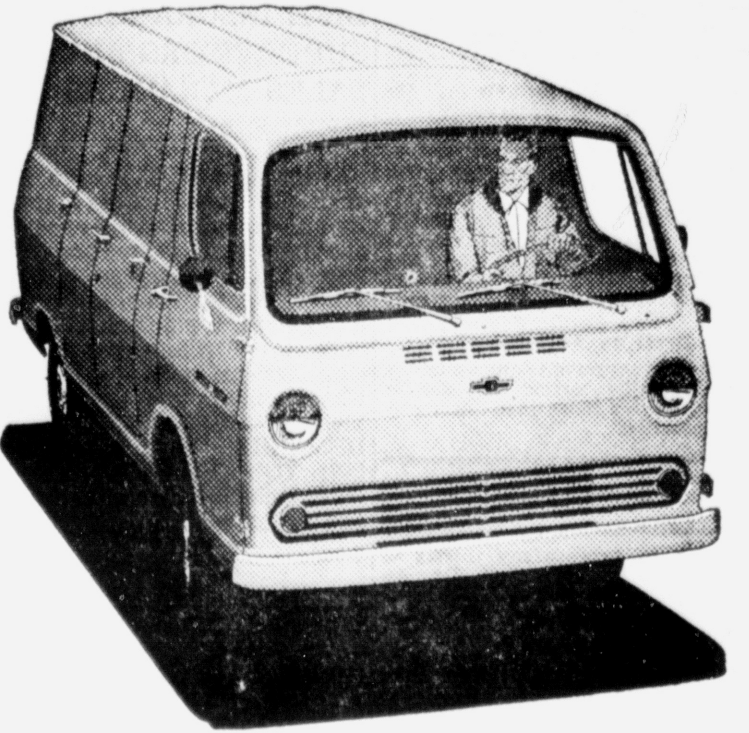

A general membership meeting of the booster club will be held 8 p. m. March 16. Darby Twp. will serve refreshments and the program will be provided by the Westfall Future Farmers of America.

Huge Bubble Chamber Slated for Erection

ARGONNE, Ill. (AP) — The Argonne National Laboratory will construct the world's largest bubble chamber for studying nuclear particles.

The chamber will be filled with 7,000 gallons of liquid hydrogen under high pressure and lowered to a temperature of 423 degrees below zero. The $17-million project is to be used in conjunction with the laboratory's 12.5-billion electron volt smash-er.

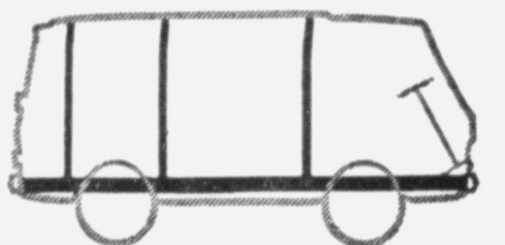

half-time deficit for a 70-70 tie but Marietta stopped the Lords late in the game and coasted to a 89-77 Ohio Conference triumph. Dick Sower led the Pioneers with 23 points, two less than Kenyon's Terry Parmelee.

NEW...the world's first electric starting 7 1/2 hp outboard motor!

the button...

Think of it: gently touch the starter button and you're underway — zipping along at up to 18 mph, or inching along at a perfect trolling speed. No more standing up while tugging or yanking a starter rope (and almost falling out if you pull too hard). No more aimless drifting while trying to start your engine.
You can even start the new McCulloch 7 1/2 Electric without turning around to look at it.
Just push the button!

You'll like its super-quiet operation; smooth, steady idle. And, it won't load-up and stall — even when you troll for hours.

No other small outboard makes your boating so easy, because no other small outboard has the electric starting feature. Best of all, it costs only a few dollars more than a standard 7 1/2.

Try starting any other small outboard — then, come on in and push the button!

NEW...the world's first electric starting 7 1/2 hp outboard motor!

just push the button...

Think of it: gently touch the starter button and you're underway - zipping along at up to 18 mph, or inching along at a perfect trolling speed. No more standing up while tugging or yanking a starter rope (and almost falling out if you pull too hard). No more aimless drifting while trying to start your engine. You can even start the new McCulloch 7 1/2 Electric without turning around to look at it.

Just push the button!

You'll like its super-quiet operation; smooth, steady idle. And, it won't load up and stall - even when you troll for hours.

No other small outboard makes your boating so easy, because no other small outboard has the electric starting feature. Best of all, it costs only a few dollars more than a standard 7 1/2.

Try starting any other small outboard - then, come on in and push the button!

LE Junior Class

Schedules Fox Drive

A fox drive, sponsored by the junior class of Logan Elm High School, is scheduled to start at 9 a. m. Saturday at the school. Free coffee will be served by the class prior to the start of the drive. Lunch will be served at noon.

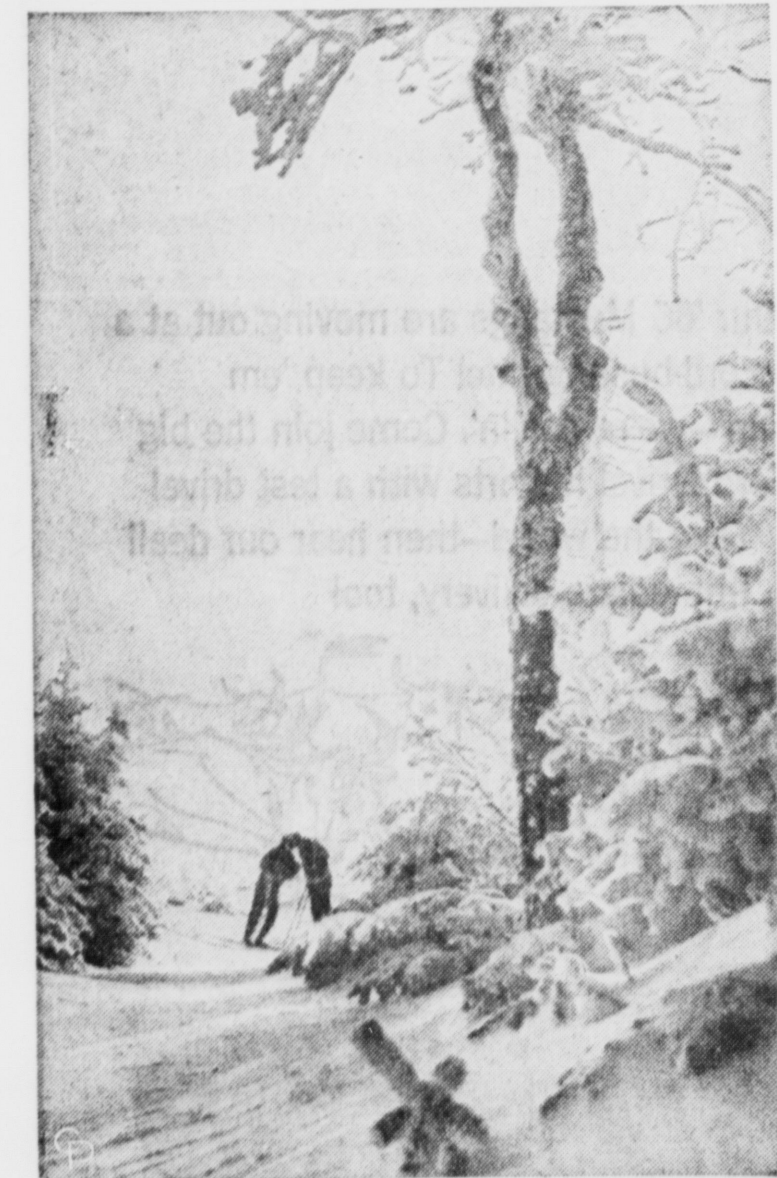

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers is over .500 against every National League team except the Cincinnati Reds who boast an 18-17 edge. Koufax has registered his most victories against the Phillies, having defeated them 19 times in 26 decisions.

Bass Islands Area

Ice Fishing Said OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife said today that ice fishing on Lake Erie is unsafe except for the Bass Islands area.

In the Bass Islands area some perch are being caught, division spokesmen said. They added they did not want to make any further forecasts for the weekend because of the uncertain weather conditions.

TIME OUT—Two young skiers take a few minutes away from the slopes to pitch a little wool high atop snow-covered and beautiful Cannon Mountain at Franconia, N. H.

CCA Completes Engineering Study For Program To Eliminate Haze

OPERATIONS CENTER — Heart of the new Container-Copeland waste disposal process at the Container Corporation of America's Circleville mill is this control board, which reflects the status of all elements in the complex system. Panel in background traces waste liquor as it flows from pulp washers through triple effect evaporators (left) and is fed into the reactor where all organic wastes are burned. Residual materials from the process are pelletized chemicals which can be used as raw materials in the paperboard manufacturing process.

Container Corporation of America has just completed engineering studies for a program designed to eliminate the haze which occasionally creates a problem for residents in the area near the company's paperboard mill here.

The engineering studies were conducted to permit design of the most effective system for eliminating this problem. According to Henry J. Schroeder, general manager of the mill, equipment for this program has been ordered for immediate delivery. Installation should be completed in May.

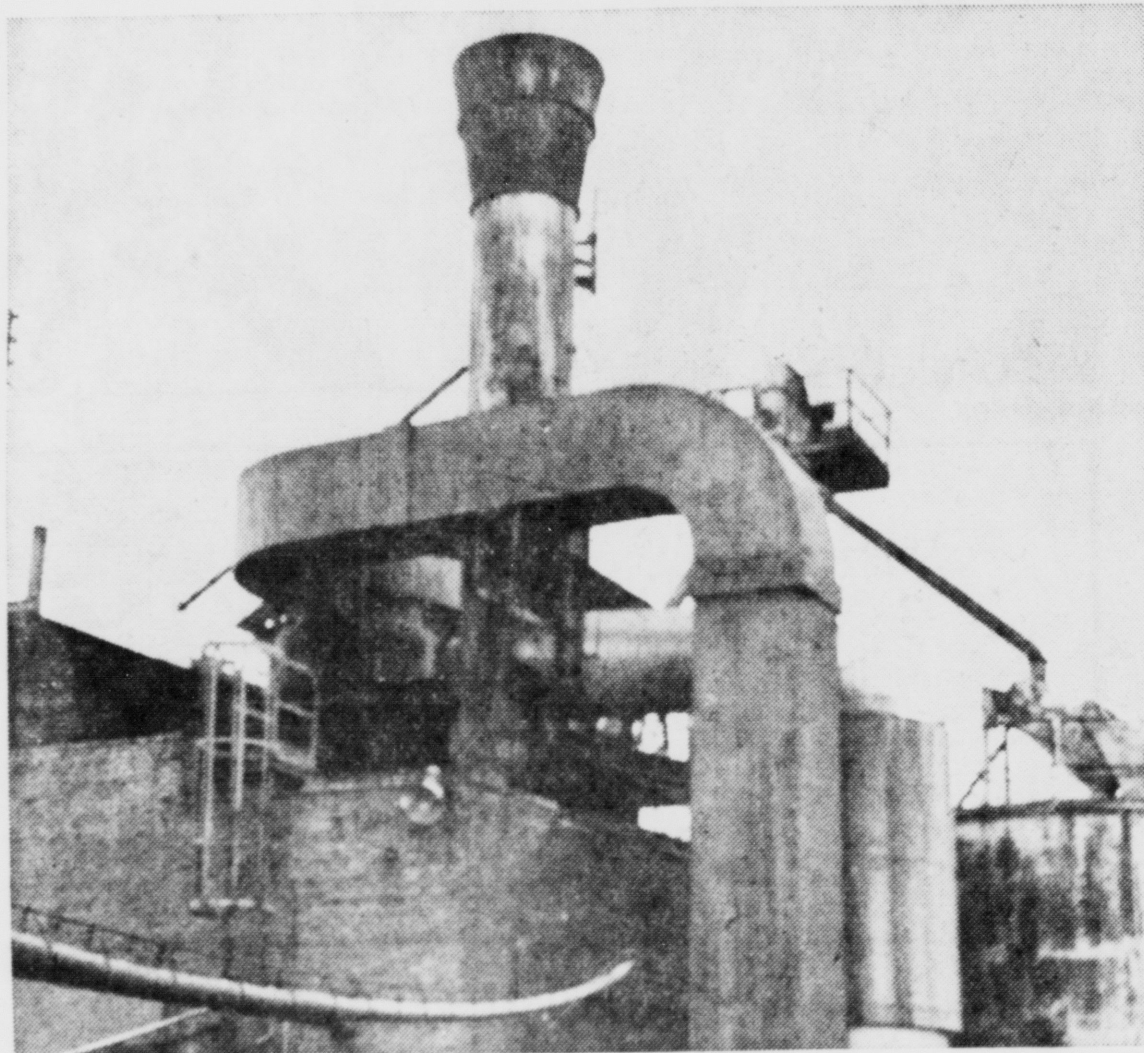

Schroeder said the temporary haze problem has been created by a new system the company has developed to reduce the amount of pulp mill waste in the water which is discharged to the sewage disposal plant.

This new system is extremely effective, Schroeder explained. "We are all very proud of the fact that the Circleville mill has led the industry in developing a waste disposal system which greatly reduces the likelihood of stream pollution."

"WE HAVE long been aware of the need for limiting the amount of waste which we discharge into the water and air, and we were pleased to receive recognition for being one of the first mills in the state that have taken such positive steps toward pollution abatement," Schroeder said. "At the same time, we are unhappy and embarrassed by the fact that our clean water program has temporarily reduced the effectiveness of our clean air program. But we are confident this problem will be effectively handled during the next few months."

Schroeder said Container Corporation has spent more than a million dollars on waste disposal equipment at the Circleville mill, as part of its recent modernization program here. The largest expenditure was for the installation of the new Container-Copeland system which disposes of organic wastes in the "black liquor" generated in the process of converting Ohio hardwoods into the pulp from which paperboard is made.

Each day, the mill converts approximately 400 tons of pulpwood logs into paperboard. After the logs are converted to the logs are converted to pulp the chemical wastes are pumped into triple-effect evaporators which remove two-thirds of the water from the waste liquor.

ANOTHER UNIT DUE — New high-energy "air scrubbing unit" will be installed next to the turbulent contact scrubber shown in this photograph at the Circleville medium mill of Container Corporation of America. Clouds at the top of this flume are formed from condensation of water vapor. After the new unit is installed, these clouds will still form under certain atmospheric conditions, since the air exhausted into the atmosphere will be approximately 190 degrees and will be fully saturated with water vapor.

The concentrated liquor is then pumped into a high-temperature reactor which burns up all organic waste materials.

Exhaust gases from this reactor pass through four cyclone separators which remove small dust particles from the exhaust and feed them back into the reactor. From the cyclone, the exhaust gases are fed into what Schroeder termed a "turbulent contact scrubber," designed to scrub remaining solids and gases out of the air before it is exhausted into the atmosphere.

In this scrubber unit, Schroeder explained, "the exhaust is forced to pass through a cascade of water before it goes into the atmosphere. The unit is designed to create a turbulence which is intended to transfer solids and gases out of the exhaust into the scrubbing water which is then reprocessed through our disposal system."

OUR EXPERIENCE has indicated that this unit has proved to be only 99 per cent effective, and a small quantity of sub-micron particles still remain in the air which we send into the atmosphere," Schroeder stated.

He added that removal of these sub-micron particles from the air is the aim of our recently completed engineering studies. This research resulted in specifications for a high energy venturi scrubber which will be installed as a supplement to the present system.

After this new unit is installed, Schroeder explained, "it will reprocess the air after it leaves our turbulent contact scrubber. In this new unit, the air will be forced to pass through a narrow curtain of water at a high velocity, transferring sub-micron particles from the airstream into the water curtain."

Installation of this second scrubber unit in May is part of the modernization program which the company started here in 1963, at a cost of more than $5 million. As a result of this program, the mill is considered the most modern completely utilized mill in the Midwest.

The plant's 125 employees daily produce approximately 200 tons of corrugating medium, the fluted material used in corrugated shipping containers. Output of the Circleville mill is shipped to Container Corporation plants located east of the Mississippi River.

The mill uses approximately 140,000 tons of local pulpwood each year. Most of this wood is purchased from producers in Pickaway, Hocking, Vinton, Jackson, Ross, Fairfield, Madison and Perry Counties.

Business Briefs

Owens-Illinois, Inc., is borrowing $100 million in privately placed 25-year promissory notes to help finance the company's accelerated capital expansion program during the last half of the 'sixties, R. H. Mulford, president of the company announced today.

The promissory notes have been placed with institutional investors in sixteen cities through Lazard Freres & Co., and Goldman, Sachs & Co.

The unsecured promissory notes bear interest at the rate of five per cent. They will be repaid at the rate of $3 million annually in 1972-79 and $5 million annually in 1980-1990. The balance of $21 million will be due in 1991.

"The funds will be used to help finance new plants for the glass, plastic and forest products areas of our business, additions to and improvements in existing plants, and for new facilities to manufacture some of the new products and new materials coming from the company's research laboratories," Mulford said.

"During the next five years Owens-Illinois expects to spend approximately $500 million on capital improvements. Most of the improvements will be paid for by internal cash flow, as was the nearly $300 million the company spent on capital improvements during the 1959-1965 period."

NEW YORK — Container Corporation of America's capital expenditures will be more than $40 million for expansion and modernization of its paperboard mills and packaging plants during 1966.

This level of capital spending exceeds the 1965 expenditure of $36.5 million, and marks continuation of a capital investment program began in 1962. Container operates a paperboard mill in Circleville.

The announcement was made before members of the New York Society of Security Analysts by Leo H. Schoenhofen, president and chief executive officer of the packaging company.

"In recent studies conducted by our economists, we have found that the demand for packaging will continue to grow significantly during the next ten years," Schoenhofen said. "These studies, made in an attempt to forecast our own capital needs for the future, consider changes that may occur in almost every other manufacturing and processing industry in the country."

As an example, Schoenhofen said Container Corporation found "growth of the food industry and some other major industries will increase by about 50 per cent during the next 10 years. This means we will have to expand our facilities for producing shipping containers by 50 per cent, just to maintain our current share of the market."

Appalachian Road Hearing Is Scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — First public hearings concerning construction of the Appalachian Development Highway System in Ohio will be held at Athens and Jackson, it was announced today.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter said some sections of the $30 million project extending from Givens in Pike County to Albany in Athens County will be on a new right of way where there are no existing continuous highways.

The first hearing, involving a section of Ohio 346 and U.S. 50 from the Jackson - Vinton county line to Albany will be held at Athens on March 7.

Discussion on the section involving Ohio 124 and Ohio 345 from Givens to the Jackson-Vinton county line will be held the following day in Jackson.

Huge Soviet Airliner Falls On Takeoff

MOSCOW (AP) — Witnesses say the huge Soviet airliner which crashed Thursday got about 100 feet off the ground, dropped back and hit a snowbank with one wing.

Unofficial Soviet sources said 48 of the 70 persons aboard the TU114 — the world's largest airliner — were killed in the crash at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport. Western airline sources said 38 were killed.

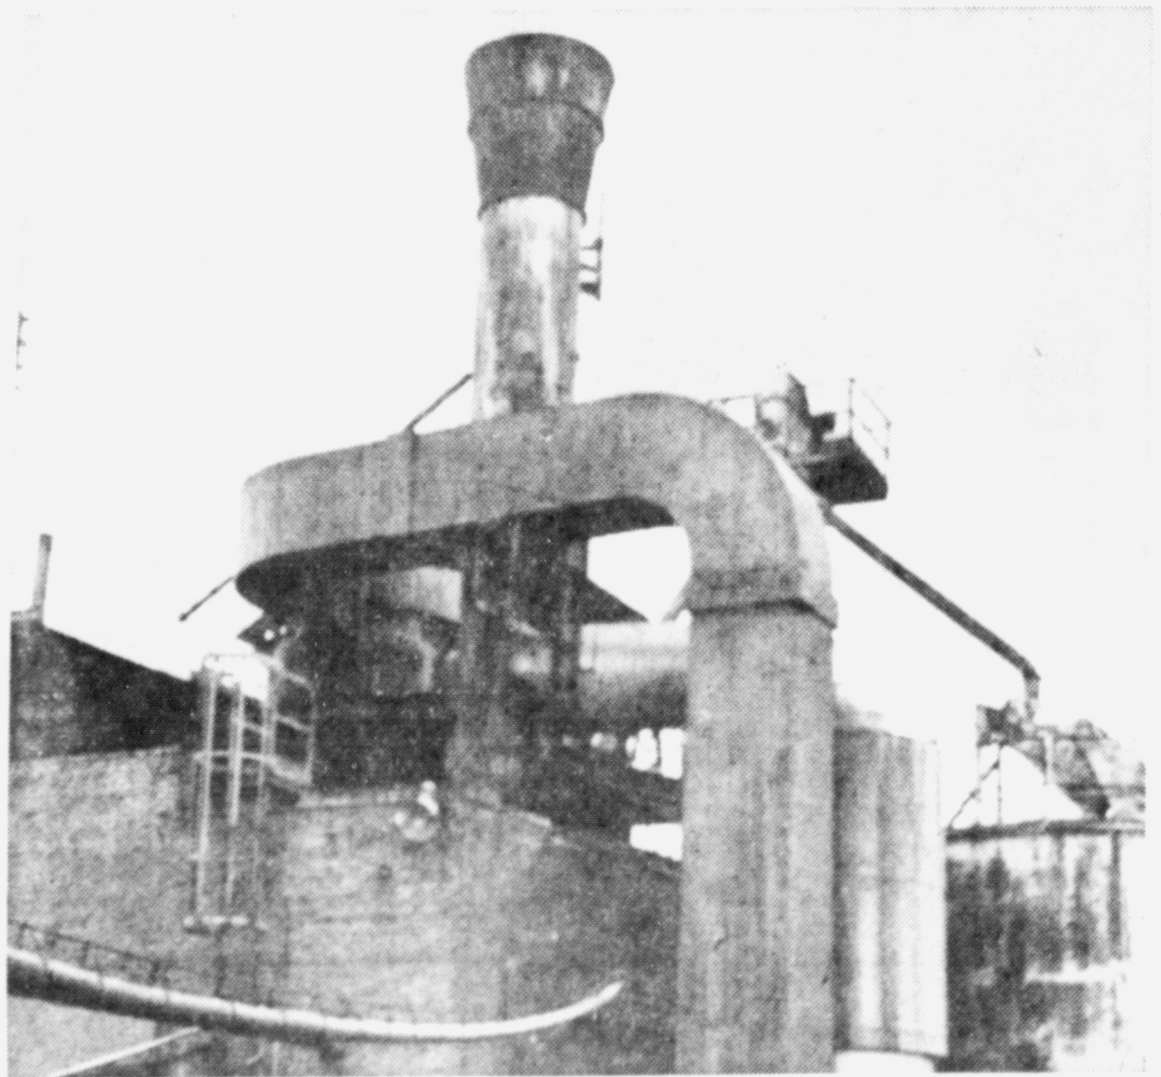

Witnesses gave this account of the crash:

The four-engine turboprop plane left the runway and rose about 100 feet, then began swaying violently. One side dipped and the plane started to drop back to earth.

The pilot, apparently realizing that the plane was too far down the runway to land safely, tried to get maximum power. The engines roared but he could not get the giant craft to climb. A wing dug into a snowbank and the TU114 fell.

It snapped in two from the force of the impact. The rear section burst into flame, causing the heaviest casualties.
